If you have already responded to the invitation from the Heritage Foundation to the reception for Chairmen Inhofe and Pombo on the 25th, please ignore this message, and I look forward to seeing you there.ÿ If not, then I encourage you to attend if you can.ÿ This is an unusual event in that we are only inviting people from the non-profit sector who work on environmental issues, Congressional staff (most from the two committees), and Administration officials.ÿ No industry lobbyists and no media.ÿÿ It won't be a huge event, so you'll have a chance to talk with friends, meet allies, and congratulate our two honored guests.ÿ Please respond directly to Amy DeCaspers at amy.decaspers@heritage.org.

You are cordially invited to a reception honoring

Senator James Inhofe (R - OK)

and

Representative Richard Pombo (R - CA)

Co-Hosted by:

Becky Norton Dunlop

Vice President, External Relations

The Heritage Foundation

Mike Franc

Vice President, Government Relations

Conservationists have reason to cheer. For the first time, the chairmen of these two committees in Congress both believe that environmental policies should be based on the most reliable, objective, and unbiased scientific information available and that respect for people's property rights enhances environmental protection. The importance of their balanced and common sense approach to environmental policies cannot be overstated.

Please join The Heritage Foundation and the Competitive Enterprise Institute in honoring Senator James Inhofe and Representative Richard Pombo as they undertake their important leadership roles as Chairman of the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee and Chairman of the House Resources Committee, respectively.ÿ
