The Office of Personnel Management (OPM) is responsible for personnel management functions which include the following activities:

Merit systems oversight and effectiveness.—This activity includes: (a) evaluating human resources management (HRM) in Federal agencies through various methods, including on-site reviews and special studies; (b) administering classification appeals, Fair Labor Standards Act, and Intergovernmental Personnel programs to ensure that agencies adhere to the statutory requirements; (c) helping agencies develop merit-based HRM accountability systems to support mission accomplishment; (d) assessing the effectiveness of Governmentwide HRM policies and programs and serving as a clearinghouse for best practices; (e) testing and evaluating innovative HRM practices and systems, including demonstration projects under 5 U.S.C. Chapter 47; (f) providing readily accessible statistics on the Federal workforce; (g) providing electronic transfer of other human resources data throughout the Federal sector; and (h) administering parts of the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Program performance.—The activity's performance measures are designed to assess the value-added outcomes which oversight reviews, accountability and demonstration projects, and workforce information have on the Federal HRM community and employees. Client feedback is solicited on each review, product, and service. For example, clients rate the overall value of the oversight work as 4.0 or above of a 5-point scale. The quality of data that is provided to clients is regularly assessed, and is used in reviews, studies, and projects. Of each agency's records entered into the Central Personnel Data File, at least 97 percent are correct on all core elements. The Merit System Principles Survey, used to collect employee perceptions of the merit system principles, is content valid and reliable. OPM conducts 15 to 17 nationwide agency oversight reviews each year to ensure compliance with Federal Civil Service merit principles.

Employment Service.—The Employment Service performs core human resources (HR) leadership functions. These functions include developing, implementing, and monitoring employment policies for agencies in the areas of workforce planning, recruiting, selecting, promoting, reassigning, downsizing and reshaping. The Service monitors and reports on governmentwide diversity and veterans efforts, provides technical assistance on a variety of staffing issues, and operates the personnel program for the Administrative Law Judges. Additionally, the Service provides HR best practice information to Federal agencies, offers automated staffing solutions, and operates the Federal job information system USAJOBS. In 2002 and 2003, the Service will focus on improving the Federal hiring process, enhancing the image of the public service, conducting occupational studies of homeland security and executive succession planning, and expanding the Government's ability to recruit, develop, and retain computer security professionals.

Program performance.—The Employment Service establishes annual performance goals and objectives designed to accomplish long-term goals identified in OPM's Strategic Plan. Progress is monitored through a mix of outcome and output measures, including results of oversight reviews, qualitative feedback on the usefulness of policies and information processes, customer satisfaction with services, cost-comparison analyses, workload accomplishment data, and quality and timeliness of information.

The Employment Service provided employment information to over 20.7 million people in 2001 through a nationwide system available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, by telephone, fax, and internet. USAJOBS averages more than 56,000 visits daily. This is an increase from the previous year and is expected to continue to grow.

The Employment Service conducts a recertification and training program for all agency Delegated Examining Units to ensure that agencies are carrying out their delegated responsibilities in accordance with law and regulation, and accomplished all scheduled recertifications.

In 2001, Employment Service published several regulations such as the Career Intern Interim regulations and final regulations for the Student Loan Repayment program and continued to assist employees with outplacement assistance and selection priority for other jobs. The Service also helped advance the President's Strategic Management of Human Capital initiative by proposing legislation to streamline the hiring process, which was included in the Administration's Managerial Flexibility Act of 2001, and providing technical assistance and tools to help agencies conduct a workforce analysis and develop a restructuring plan.

Retirement and Insurance.— This Activity encompasses administration of Earned Employee Benefits—the retirement and insurance programs—for Federal employees, retired Federal employees, and their families. These programs include the Civil Service Retirement System, the Federal Employees Retirement System, the Federal Employees Group Life Insurance Program, and the Federal Employees and Retired Employees Health Benefits Programs. The Long-Term Care Security Act (P.L. 106-265) authorizes OPM to offer group long term care insurance for Federal employees and retirees, their spouses, parents, and parents-in-law. In addition, this Activity includes OPM's efforts designed to stay abreast of, and respond to, developments in non-Federal fringe benefits practices.

Program performance.—The Retirement Systems Modernization (RSM) Project is OPM's central strategy to meet its long term customer service, financial management and business goals for the Retirement Program. To achieve these strategic goals, OPM will move from a paper-based record keeping system to program-wide electronic data and transactions. The project will be implemented in phases, with full results achieved in 2008. Close coordination with another OPM initiative, the Human Resources Data Network, will minimize the data agencies must send to OPM. OPM is developing universal tools that use electronic data, and has already introduced a prototype Benefits Calculator and a Benefits Booklet for retiring employees. The calculator, used by OPM to process FERS claims, reduced claims processing times by 45 percent. The benefits booklet provides personalized benefits information, contributing to improved customer satisfaction. During FY 2002, OPM will complete two applications that will provide immediate benefits. A Retirement Data Exchange Gateway will allow OPM and agencies to eliminate obsolete technology and reduce the delay some retiring employees experience in receiving their first benefit payment. A Coverage Determination Application will improve the accuracy of retirement coverage decisions made by agencies. During FY 2003, OPM will begin to convert member data, currently stored in paper form at the Retirement Operations Center and at Federal agencies, to electronic media. This will contribute to improved benefits counseling and case development by agencies, reduced benefit claims processing time and elimination of paper record storage and management. In addition, OPM will pilot, with the USPS, a non-HR-DN data capture capability, and will develop web-enabled self-service for retirement benefits, i.e., on line applications. RSM results in more efficient and effective retirement claims processing, record keeping, benefits counseling and financial management. Ninety-three percent of customers reported that they were generally satisfied to very satisfied with OPM's delivery of retirement services. This continues a five-year trend of satisfaction levels in the 90 percent range. In addition, the American Customer Satisfaction Index (ASCI) measured the satisfaction federal retirees and survivor annuitants had with the retirement services delivered, and the level of satisfaction improved from 73 in 2000, to 78 in 2001.

OPM continues to improve its telecommunication services. Toll-free telephone access is provided to all call centers, interactive features are available through the telephone system, and hours of operation have been extended until 8:00 P.M.E.S.T. In addition, to better serve customers, OPM has enhanced its ability to meet their needs by adding on-line features for our Spanish-speaking customers, and translating often-used benefits material into Spanish. The volume of telephone inquiries handled increased by 8 percent during FY 2001. Customer satisfaction levels regarding the courtesy, clarity, and timeliness of telephone services remain high at 90 percent.

The volume of new annuity claims remained steady. OPM has received and processed an average of 170,000 Civil Service and Federal Employees Retirement Systems annuity and survivor claims annually over the past 5 years. The average processing time for interim annuity payments in 2001 was reduced from 5 days to 3 days. More than 48% of interim payments were authorized within one day. The time needed to calculate and begin paying retirees their final annuity was reduced by more than 30% from an average of 115 days in 2000 to 78 days in 2001. OPM increased its claims processing capacity and efficiency through the use of enhanced technical platforms. Customer satisfaction with the timeliness of the first annuity payment has remained at or near 80 percent since FY 1997 and is much improved over the 73 percent observed in FY 1995.

OPM also maintained its leadership in the direct deposit program, an efficient means of ensuring that customers receive their annuity payment each month. Customer satisfaction levels with receipt of annuity checks are at 97 percent, continuing another long-standing trend. During 1998, OPM implemented a direct mail campaign to inform annuitants and survivors of the convenience and desirability of direct deposit. As a result, participation rose from 79 percent at the start of 1998, to nearly 93 percent today. OPM will expand the direct deposit program to our overseas customers by participating in the International Direct Deposit Program beginning mid-FY 2002.

The FEHBP continues to be a hallmark for employer sponsored health insurance programs. To maintain this recognition, OPM will ensure that customers are enrolled in highly rated health plans that deliver quality care in a cost-effective manner. During FY 2003, OPM will continue to address patient safety, collaborating with others in the health care industry to develop the "Five Steps to Patient Safety." These "Steps" have been widely adopted both in and out of Government. Participating health plans have already adopted some patient safety initiatives and are working with participating providers to articulate and disseminate information about the safety initiatives that they have put in practice. Health plans have also updated provider directories, where appropriate, to inform their membership of important safety measures. These initiatives include such practices as the use of automated entry systems for prescription drugs, referring patients to recognized Centers of Excellence, and staffing appropriately for Intensive Care Units. Other consumer protections and quality initiatives now provided by FEHBP plans include, but are not limited to: transitional care for those with chronic or disabling conditions; the right to review medical records and to correct inaccurate ones; and direct access to women's health care providers.

OPM continues to build and maintain strong relationships with the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA), the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO), the National Quality Forum, the Quality Interagency Coordination (QuIC) Taskforce, the Washington Business Group on Health, the Leapfrog Group, the Health Care Financing Administration and other components of the Department of Health and Human Services. These partnerships have been instrumental in promoting the use of health care quality outcome measures by the Federal government and health care purchasers and providers throughout the nation.

OPM is taking initial steps to standardize and centralize data on health plan performance in a data repository. This will enable staff to more easily analyze the information, begin benchmarking, and provide feedback to plans for quality improvement.

The Long Term Care Security Act, which was passed in FY 2000, authorizes OPM to offer long term care insurance to approximately 20 million people by October 2002. OPM plans to offer a flexible long term care product, including provisions for nursing home care, assisted living, home health care and adult day care. Insurance will be offered to civil service, postal and uniformed services personnel, government retirees and specified relatives, such as spouses, parents, in-laws and stepparents. OPM estimates that 300,000 to 600,000 individuals will enroll during the first sign-up period in FY 2003. Enrollees will pay the full cost of insurance premiums at group rates that are expected to be lower than rates for comparable coverage sold privately on an individual basis. OPM will draft regulations for the new program and will oversee an education campaign to explain long-term care options to employees and retirees. OPM will assure that consumer materials and guidance are readily accessible to help individuals make informed choices about purchasing the long-term care product(s) that will be available to them.

In late FY 2000, legislation was enacted to provide relief to employees who were placed in the wrong retirement system. The Federal Erroneous Retirement Coverage Corrections Act (FERCCA) allows most of these employees a choice in retirement plans. OPM's implementation strategy is to provide a consistent high level of customer service to everyone who is eligible for relief so that affected individuals can make informed decisions. OPM developed a web page at www.opm.gov/benefits/correction with information about the Act. To date, about 6,300 affected individuals have been registered in our database. OPM began the review of records to determine eligibility in September 2001 and affected individuals will receive counseling beginning January 2002. The process of identifying affected individuals and providing counseling services is expected to be completed by the end of 2002.

Workforce compensation and performance.—This activity includes; (a) developing and implementing pay and leave administration policy and evaluating the effectiveness of alternative compensation systems; (b) developing classification policies and systems and designing flexible alternatives to current systems; and (c) developing Governmentwide policy concerning performance management.

Program performance.—The workforce compensation and performance program area uses a variety of measures to identify its level of success. Overall customer service is measured through OPM's Customer Satisfaction Survey, surveys of attendees at conferences, workshops, and/or seminars, and feedback from users of our website and email. The 2000 HR Directors' Customer Satisfaction Survey showed that the percentage of human resources directors who were satisfied with policy leadership in WCPS program areas were as follows; 87 percent in pay and leave administration, 78 percent in performance management, 68 percent in position classification and position management, and 62 percent in the Federal Wage System. In 2001 the organization staged the second Strategic Compensation Conference. On a five-point scale, the average overall rating of the Conference was 4.33, an increase from 4.14 for the 1999 Conference, and 4.23 for the 2000 Conference. The overall improvement in perception of outcomes in WCPS program areas is demonstrated by the increase in positive responses in a national survey of more than 20,000 Federal employees. Favorable responses increased in one year from 26 percent to 31 percent on the question "are you clear about how good performance is defined in your organization?" On the issue "recognition and rewards are based on merit," positive responses increased from 30 to 34 percent.

Investigations.—This activity focuses on assuring applicant and appointee fitness and suitability, and oversight of the investigative contract company.

Workforce relations.—This activity includes: (a) developing governmentwide policies, issuing guidance, and providing assistance to agencies on employee relations issues, including actions based on misconduct and unacceptable performance, as well as alternative dispute resolution; (b) Promoting and supporting Federal work/life and wellness programs; (c) providing leadership and policy guidance in support of agency human resource development programs and training initiatives; and (d) providing guidance, information, and assistance to agencies on collective bargaining and labor-management relations to help them develop effective labor relations programs.

Program performance.—OPM’s workforce relations performance measures are designed to determine the value added by OPM’s policy leadership and guidance on employee and labor-management relations issues, work/life programs, and human resource development programs. The Office of Workforce Relations (OWR) uses a variety of measures to identify its level of success. For instance, surveys at regular intervals assess the extent to which our customers feel that their needs are met by OWR products and services such as printed and electronic materials, conferences, seminars, and workshops, as well as by legislative and regulatory proposals coming from OWR.

Executive resources.—This activity provides Government-wide program leadership, policy direction and technical assistance on all aspects of the Senior Executive Service personnel system and comparable executive systems.

Administrative services.—This activity includes: OPM personnel and equal employment opportunity, security, facilities, telecommunications, publishing, acquisitions, and information resources management to support all OPM programs.

Executive and other services.—This activity includes: executive direction, policy development, legal advice and representation, public affairs, legislative activities, financial management, and the operating expenses of the President’s Commission on White House Fellows.

Reimbursable programs.—OPM performs reimbursable work at the request of other agencies. OPM also provides administrative, information resources management, and executive services to other OPM accounts on a reimbursable basis.

This appropriation provides agency-wide audit, investigative, evaluation, inspection, and administrative sanction functions to identify management and administrative deficiencies that may create conditions for fraud, waste, and mismanagement. The audits function provides internal agency audit, insurance audit, contract audit, and information systems audit services. Contract audits provide professional advice to agency contracting officials on accounting and financial matters regarding the negotiation, award, administration, repricing, and settlement of contracts. Internal agency audits review and evaluate all facets of agency operations, including financial statements. Insurance audits review the operations of health and life insurance carriers, health care providers, and insurance subscribers. Information systems audits review both general controls and application controls for the agency's systems and programs. The investigative function provides for the detection and investigation of improper and illegal activities involving programs, personnel, and operations. Administrative sanctions debar from participation in the health insurance program those health care providers whose conduct may pose a threat to the financial integrity of the program itself or to the well-being of insurance program enrollees. These Inspector General activities resulted in positive financial impacts of approximately $242 million, 22 criminal convictions, and 4,032 administrative sanctions in 2001.

90.00 Outlays	5,417	6,083	6,599

For 2001 and 2002, this appropriation covers: (1) the Government's share of the cost of health insurance for annuitants as defined in sections 8901 and 8906 of title 5, United States Code; (2) the Government's share of the cost of health insurance for annuitants (who were retired when the Federal employees health benefits law became effective), as defined in the Retired Federal Employees Health Benefits Act of 1960; and (3) the Government's contribution for payment of administrative expenses incurred by the Office of Personnel Management in administration of the Act.

The budget authority for this account recognizes the amounts being remitted by the U.S. Postal Service (USPS) to finance a portion of its post-1971 annuitants' health benefit costs.

For 2003, this appropriation covers the annual appropriations necessary to provide for the liquidation of the Government's unfunded liability as of September 30, 2001, for post-retirement health benefits, as part of the "Accrual Funding of Post-retirement Health Benefits Costs for Federal Employees" subtitle in the President's Managerial Flexibility Act.

The Act would require OPM to determine the current liability of the Government for post-retirement costs under FEHB, excluding the Postal Service liability for post-June 30, 1971, for the period prior to enactment. OPM would then establish an amortization schedule to liquidate the liability over 40 years beginning in fiscal year 2003 and continuing through 2042. In addition, the Act would require OPM to determine the supplemental unfunded liability of the Fund as of the close of each fiscal year for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 2001, and provide for liquidation of such liability over the succeeding 30 years. This would provide for liquidation of any unfunded liability that may accrue after enactment.

Payment of Government share of retirement costs.—In 2001 and 2002, this payment amortizes increases in the static unfunded liability created since October 20, 1969 by any statute which authorizes new or liberalized benefits, an extension of retirement coverage, or pay increases. Beginning in 2003, this payment would liquidate the current unfunded liability by 2042, as provided by the “Accrual Funding of Pensions and Retirement Pay” subtitle of the President’s Managerial Flexibility Act.

The Act would require OPM to determine, as of September 30, 2001, the unfunded liability that is attributable to benefits payable under chapter 83 of Title 5 U.S.C., and to determine an appropriate amortization schedule, providing for the liquidation of that liability by October 1, 2041.

Transfers for interest on unfunded liability and payment of military service annuities.—In 2001 and 2002, this transfer covers interest on the static unfunded liability and annuity disbursements attributable to military service. In 2003, these transfers would be eliminated and replaced by the annual payment to liquidate the unfunded liability as discussed above.

Payments for spouse equity.—This payment provides survivor annuities to eligible former spouses of annuitants who died between September 1978 and May 1986 and who did not elect survivor coverage.

This presentation displays the new Employees Health Benefits Fund. In addition to the existing components of the current Employees Health Benefits Fund, this new Special Fund incorporates the proposed requirement for each agency to fund the accruing actuarial cost of Government contributions for post-retirement health benefits for its current participating employees. This new presentation is consistent with the "Accrual Funding of Post-retirement Health Benefits Costs for Federal Employees" subtitle in the President's Managerial Flexibility Act.

The additional agency contributions to pre-fund the cost of post-retirement health benefits for current employees would come from the appropriations or fund used to pay the participant's salary. For 2003, these additional agency contributions would be approximately $5.6 billion. The lines in these schedules labeled "agency contributions" reflect both this additional contribution and the standard agency contribution toward the payment of annual premiums. The practice of using cash accounting to fund the Postal Service liability attributable to civilian service performed after June 30, 1971, under title 5 U.S.C. 8906(g)(2) would remain unchanged under this proposal.

For additional information on the Employees Health Benefits Fund, please see the presentation of the Employees and Retired Employees Health Benefits Funds located at the end of this OPM chapter.

DOD testing.—OPM conducts military entrance exams for the Department of Defense (DOD) as a cost-effective and reliable provider. The Employment Service continued to provide testing for the Department of Defense in FY 2001, conducting approximately 14,509 student test sessions and 24,112 enlistment sessions.

Employment service.—OPM delivers employment information, examining services, automated staffing, and related human resource management services to Federal agencies nationwide. In 2001, we maintained contracts for a wide array of human resource products and services with the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial branches.

Investigations.—Through a contract with a private company, OPM conducts National Agency Check and Inquiry cases and background security investigations for Federal agencies on a reimbursable basis. To the extent that OPM is required to pay a fee to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for name and fingerprint checks, agencies are required to reimburse OPM for such fees through the revolving fund.

Workforce relations.—Through the Training and Management Assistance (TMA) program, OPM provides assistance to government agencies in managing the development of training and human resources management solutions that meet their specific short-term and long-range objectives. This is accomplished through an expedited contracting process, which is managed by an experienced team of HR and contracting professionals.

Program performance.—The TMA performance indicators are designed to measure the financial stability of the program and customer satisfaction. The financial indicator measures if program costs are met. The customer satisfaction indicator assures that TMA services are meeting the needs and objectives of client agencies.

Executive resources.—OPM conducts residential and non-residential programs for Federal executives and managers to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of Federal programs.

This fund: (1) pays annuities to retired employees or their survivors; (2) makes refunds to separated employees for amounts withheld and to beneficiaries of employees who died before retirement or before annuities equaled the amount withheld; and (3) pays expenses of the Office of Personnel Management and the Merit Systems Protection Board for administering the program. The fund covers two Federal civilian retirement systems: the Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) and the Federal Employees' Retirement System (FERS).

CSRS is basically a defined benefit plan, covering Federal employees hired prior to 1984. CSRS participants do not participate in the Social Security system. FERS is a three-tiered pension program that uses Social Security as a base, provides an additional basic benefit, and includes a thrift savings plan. FERS covers employees hired after 1983 and formerly CSRS-covered employees who elected to join FERS.

For CSRS employees in 2003, as provided by the "Accrual Funding of Pensions and Retirement Pay" subtitle of the President's Managerial Flexibility Act, agencies would contribute the full accruing cost of pension benefits.

The Administration has proposed legislation to simplify the computation of annuities under the Civil Service Retirement System for individuals with part-time service. The change would eliminate an unintended adverse effect on employees who perform part-time service at the end of their careers, and provide agencies increased flexibility to recruit and retain personnel.

For 2001 and 2002, this display combines the Federal Employees Health Benefits (FEHB) fund and the Retired Employees Health Benefits (REHB) fund.

For 2003, this display presents only the REHB fund. The FEHB fund estimates have moved to Employees Health Benefits Fund presentation located at an earlier point in this OPM chapter.

The FEHB fund provides for the cost of health benefits for: (1) active employees; (2) employees who retired after June 1960, or their survivors; (3) those annuitants transferred from the REHB program as authorized by Public Law 93-246; and (4) the related expenses of the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) in administering the program.

The REHB fund, created by the Retired Federal Employees Health Benefits Act of 1960, provides for: (1) the cost of health benefits for retired employees and survivors who enroll in a Government-sponsored uniform health benefits plan; (2) the contribution to retired employees and survivors who retain or purchase private health insurance; and (3) expenses of OPM in administering the program.

Budget program.—The balance of the FEHB fund is available for payments without fiscal year limitation. Numbers of participants at the end of each fiscal year are as follows:

	2001 actual	2002 est.	2003 est.
Active employees	2,198,895	2,198,000	2,197,000
Annuitants	1,875,912	1,923,000	1,948,000
Total	4,074,807	4,121,000	4,145,000

In determining a biweekly subscription rate to cover program costs, one percent is added for administrative expenses and three percent is added for a contingency reserve held by OPM for each carrier. OPM is authorized to transfer unused administrative reserve funds to the contingency reserve.

The REHB fund is available without fiscal year limitation. The amounts contributed by the Government are paid into the fund from annual appropriations. The number of participants at the end of each fiscal year are as follows:

	2001 actual	2002 est.	2003 est.
Uniform plan	911	750	630
Private plans	2,687	2,230	1,850
Total	3,598	2,980	2,480

Financing.—The funds are financed by: (1) withholdings from active employees and annuitants; (2) agency contributions for active employees; (3) Government contributions for annuitants appropriated to OPM; and (4) contributions made by the United States Postal Service in accordance with the provisions of Public Law 101-508 and Public Law 103-66.

Operating results.—Funds made available to carriers but not used to pay claims in the current period are carried forward as special reserves for use in subsequent periods.

OPM maintains a contingency reserve, funded by employee and Government contributions, that may be used to defray future cost increases or provide increased benefits. OPM makes payments to carriers from this reserve whenever carrier-held reserves fall below levels prescribed by OPM regulations or when carriers can demonstrate good cause such as unexpected claims experience or variations from expected community rates.
