

FALL 2008

WHITE HOUSE FELLOWS

Leadership & Public Service

"Leadership to me means duty, honor, country. It means character, and it means listening."

- President George W. Bush

CLAY JOHNSON WELCOMES THE 2008-2009 CLASS OF WHITE HOUSE FELLOWS

Clay Johnson, Deputy Director of the Office of Management and Budget, joined the new class of fellows for lunch at 712 Jackson Place on September 9.

Clay Johnson, Deputy Director for Management in the Office of Management and Budget is a long-time friend and supporter of the President's Commission on White House Fellowships. In his role as President Bush's Assistant for Presidential Personnel, Clay Johnson was responsible for building a world class Fellows Commission and ensuring that the Program was well understood by President Bush's cabinet and senior officials. In addition to having Fellows work directly for him at OMB, he meets each week with the Program Director and has served as a personal mentor for many of the 119 Fellows he has come to know during his tenure in the White House. As is his tradition, he kicked off the speaker series for the new class with a candid discussion on life, leadership, and service.

WHITE HOUSE FELLOWS FOUNDATION AND ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING

October 23 – 25
Washington, DC

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23

US Chamber of Commerce | 7:30 AM – 5:00 PM
Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia, Lee Hamilton, George Stephanopoulos, Steve Inskeep, Brooks Johnson, Jose Vargas, Mac McLarty, AMB Clayton Yeutter, , AMB Jack Matlock, AMB John Bruton, David Frum, Bob Shrum, Peter Godwin, and Dep. FDIC Chairman Martin J. Gruenberg.

Willard Intercontinental Hotel | 6:15 – 8:00 PM
Welcome Reception for the WHF Class of 2008-09 and Friends of the White House Fellows

Class Dinners | 8:00 PM

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24

US Chamber of Commerce | 7:30 AM – 5:00 PM
Gen. Peter Pace, USMC (Ret), Dr. Cheng Li, Philip J. Zelikow, LTG Ann Dunwoody, LTG Douglas Lute, AMB Martin Indyk, AMB David Abshire, AG Michael Mukasey, Smart Power Commissioner Rick Barton, and WHF Sharing Session

The Capital Hilton Hotel | 6:30 PM

Reception and 2008 Legacy of Leadership Dinner: Presentation of the 2008 John W. Gardner Legacy of Leadership Award to Walter J. Humann (1966-67) and Recognition of David Rockefeller as the Recipient of the 2008 Jack Valenti Friend of the White House Fellows Award

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25

The Newseum | 8:45 AM

Behind the Scenes Tour of the Newseum and lunch at The Source by Wolfgang Puck

Please visit www.whff.org for details and registration.

REUNION AND RETROSPECTIVE: CLASS OF 1978-79 30th ANNIVERSARY

The class of 1978 - 1979 celebrated its 30th anniversary with a reunion and retrospective in Napa, California on May 29 – 31, 2008. Twelve of our fifteen members attended along with spouses and partners. The level of participation was remarkable and bittersweet: One classmate, David Caulkins, passed away the previous year and his spouse, Susan Rice, attended in his place. Another member, Mike Wheeler, missed the event only due to his father's illness. The extensive three day reunion of this unusually close class follows earlier reunions on their 20th and 25th. The objectives for the weekend were threefold: to "check-in" and share personal reflections about life, family and experiences; to derive lessons about leadership and civic contributions gained over 30 years; and to discuss what the class should do during their third stage of life. This reunion was based on the premise that the mission and purpose of the White House Fellows still holds relevance in our lives and that the guiding words of John Gardner, to serve and provide leadership, should hold true, even in retirement.

The group's discussion illuminated an intriguing notion for the White House Fellows Program — that as life expectancy increases and the baby boomer cohort (heavily represented among White House Fellows alumni) doubles the number of older persons, the opportunity for leadership into our elder years will increase. Coupling this fact with the pressing concerns of the nation and challenging issues that may be more pronounced in the next 20-30 years, older and retired White House Fellows may have an increased obligation to continue providing leadership. This 30th reunion generated animated discussions and debates about the nature of this leadership and how to continue being involved into one's latter years. Each member of this class has a litany of personal and professional accomplishments, yet each has struggled to achieve a balance between family, personal needs and leadership. Each has also faced adversity and the vicissitudes of life but has found in their WHF class (1978-79) a support system and extended family.

The reunion and retrospective served to strengthen our class bonds and to reinforce the importance of staying involved while managing the next phase of our lives — one that may include retirement, leisure and grandchildren but that can also continue to include volunteerism, activism, and community contributions.

Ike Leggett, Jim Padilla, John Saxon, Jim Scott and Fran Harvey (L to R) let loose and sing along to "Duke of Earl."

All was not work however. The class continued our tradition of fun and adventures with a wine tour of the Napa Valley and reminiscing over an August, 1978, Smithsonian magazine that profiled our final selection weekend as well as a long buried recording of the first – ever – satirical skit of that final selection weekend.

-Contributed by Fernando Torres-Gil

R: Dan Schwartz, Teresa Schwarz, Fernando e Hill, Susan Rice, Catherine Leggett, Ike tchey, Kathy Hallsten, Jim Scott, John l, Judy Brown, David Ward Mary Harvey, Diane Wong, Betsy Saxon, Jim Padilla, Nelson vey, Cora Scott, Carolyn Chin, Alice Padilla

ADVANCING IN RETREAT: THE CLASS OF 2008-2009 BEGINS

On the heels of Labor Day, the fourteen newest members of the White House Fellows program each found their way to Washington, D.C. For some, it was as simple as crossing the Potomac, while for others it involved international flights and departures from combat zones. Most arrived with images of things presidential and powerful, but the first day was really about paperwork and passwords. We had, however, advanced and arrived as the Class of 2008-2009. Our first task: RETREAT!

While some military members of the class rejected the notion of retreating on principle, the truth is our three-day trip to McLean and Warrenton, Virginia would become the longest time we had spent together as a class since it all began. Regionals were disparate and Nationals were constrained by anxiety, but this retreat was singularly about coalescing fourteen into one. It worked.

David Loaiza changes into

I am not sure that every alumnus would be proud to hear that a few of us started our adventure by swiftly changing clothes at 8 a.m. on the corner of Connecticut and H Street, but the pending ropes confidence course tested our ability to adapt as we prepared to load the bus. The staff of InnerQuest met us with enthusiasm at The Madeira School (so did classmate Everett Spain, whose unexpected and top-secret arrival straight from Baghdad made the rest of us smile). Thus began the team building exercises that culminated with “The Challenge Course” — a forty-foot climb to a mid-air gangplank which tested us individually and collectively. Some were afraid of heights. Others questioned knots and tensile strength. Several jumped with their eyes closed while screaming expletives (the students passing by were not listening). None of us looked good in the silly helmets, but it was hard not to admit that it was fun and good for the team.

Another bus-ride away, Airlie House awaited and seemed to be in a different time zone as the schedule began with “Free Time” that ended when the “Welcome Reception” began. Rope burns aside, we relaxed as a group and got about the business of getting to better know one another and preparing for the full year. We learned a great deal over the next two days. There was a promise of love and respect, despite the absence of future birthday greetings from the program director. There was etiquette class (which three of us failed before even sitting down). And, we even learned that one of us has chosen not to wear underpants for 15 years (we are thankful he arrived at Connecticut and H already adequately dressed for the ropes course). Honestly, here is what we agreed upon: we are lucky to be Fellows, we are humbled to be in Washington this year, and, despite all the fascinating opportunities that might come before us, the best part of the experience will be the 13 others we get to share it with.

We would like to thank everyone associated with the White House Fellows Program and Alumni Association for making the retreat possible and so rewarding. It worked.

We are now ready to ATTACK!

-Contributed by Ryan Janovic

Top, L to R: Dan Fletcher, David Loaiza, Ryan J vic, Jason Snyder, Chris Meyer, David Rawlinson Brian Alexander, Eyrique Miller. Bottom, L to R Sarita James, Nicole Malachowski, Everett Spain Mike Hayes, Margaret Angell, Nadine Gracia.

THE 2008-2009 CLASS OF WHITE HOUSE FELLOWS

BRIAN ALEXANDER

Hometown: Southfield, Michigan. Brian Alexander most recently served as a physician resident at the Harvard Radiation Oncology Program and holds a Master's Degree in Public Health from the Harvard School of Public Health. Dr. Alexander was active in clinical and translational cancer research with multiple projects published in peer-reviewed journals and works as a policy analyst/consultant for the Massachusetts Division of Healthcare Finance and Policy. He completed his medical training at the University of Michigan Medical School where he graduated in the top five in his class, received the Dean's Commendation for Excellence in Clinical Skills and the Art of Medicine and was inducted into the Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Society. While at Michigan, Brian received multiple awards for research in the field of oncology, chaired two health policy interest groups, acted as the student delegate to the American Medical Association, served on a countywide health policy think tank and attended the Washington Institute for Health Policy Leadership. He holds a B.A. in Health Sciences with a minor in Mathematics from Kalamazoo College in Kalamazoo, Michigan, where he graduated Phi Beta Kappa and magna cum laude in addition to playing quarterback and wide receiver for the K-College Hornet Football Team. Work Placement: Department of Veterans Affairs.

MARGARET ANGELL

Hometown: New York, New York. Margaret Angell served as the Special Assistant to the Chief Operating Officer of Boston Public Schools, where she managed the operational and financial responsibilities of rolling out universal preschool programs for four-year-olds in Boston. Margaret was also an appointed member of Governor Deval Patrick's Readiness Project, a statewide council developing a ten-year plan for improving education in Massachusetts. She is a graduate of the Broad Residency in Urban Education, a two-year management development program that trains graduates of business, public policy, and law schools for leadership positions in school districts. Margaret previously worked for Take the Field, a public-private partnership dedicated to rebuilding New York City's public high school sports facilities. She began her career in corporate finance, first in the investment banking division of J.P. Morgan, and then in the Strategic Planning Department of Time Inc. In 2004, Margaret raced in the U.S. Olympic Marathon Trials for the Athens Summer Games, finishing in 2:44. She founded the ALS Marathon Team, which has raised over $650,000 for research on Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis. Margaret received an A.B. cum laude in Economics from Harvard University, an M.B.A. from Columbia Business School, and an M.P.A. from the John F. Kennedy School of Government. Work Placement: Department of Housing and Urban Development.

DANIEL FLETCHER

Hometown: Berkeley, California. Daniel Fletcher most recently served as an Associate Professor of Bioengineering at the University of California, Berkeley and Deputy Division Director of Physical Biosciences at Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory. His research focuses on the development of new biomedical technologies and the study of cellular biophysics. Research honors include a National Science Foundation Career Award, National Inventors Hall of Fame Collegiate Inventors Award, and Hellman Family Faculty Fund Award. He is also co-founder of a biotechnology company focusing on needle-free drug delivery and has provided technical consulting for several high-tech ventures. Dan received a B.S. summa cum laude in Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering from Princeton University and a Ph.D. in Engineering Science from Oxford University where he was a Rhodes Scholar. He received a Ph.D. in Mechanical Engineering from Stanford University as a National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellow and was a Postdoctoral Fellow in Biochemistry at the Stanford University School of Medicine. He is part of the Berkeley Biophysics program and Nanoscale Science and Engineering program and a Faculty Affiliate of the QB3 Institute. Dan teaches undergraduate and graduate students at UC Berkeley and founded The Science Bus, an after-school science enrichment program for elementary school students. Work Placement: Office of Science and Technology, The White House.

DOMESTIC STUDY TRIP—CHICAGO AND DETROIT

The fourteen members of the 2008-09 Class will to visit Chicago and Detroit for their first Domestic Study Trip, October 27-30. The class and program staff owe a huge debt of gratitude to area WHF alums—especially John Borling, John McCarter, Pastora Cafferty, Kathy White, Reggie Turner, Martha Anne Donnelly, Jim O'Connor, David Webster, Barry Price, Don Haider, and Paul Anderson

THE 2008-2009 CLASS OF WHITE HOUSE FELLOWS—cont.

J. NADINE GRACIA Hometown: Novato, California. Nadine Gracia is a pediatrician and violence prevention researcher. She was a general pediatrics research fellow at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and received a Master of Science in Clinical Epidemiology from the University of Pennsylvania. Her research addresses community-level risk factors for violence and the evaluation of neighborhood interventions to reduce violence. She is an associate of the Philadelphia Collaborative Violence Prevention Center. She earned her medical degree from the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine. She then completed pediatrics residency and served as Chief Pediatrics Resident at Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh. She is a National President Emeritus of the Student National Medical Association and a past Postgraduate Physician Trustee of the National Medical Association. She is a motivational speaker and career coach for thousands of students and physicians. She also conducts workshops throughout the country on leadership development, diplomacy, and strategic planning. She serves the community on issues of political awareness, health, and educational achievement through Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. Fluent in French and Haitian Creole, she earned a B.A. with honors in French at Stanford University. Work Placement: Department of Health and Human Services.

MICHAEL HAYES Hometown: Virginia Beach, Virginia. Mike Hayes is a Lieutenant Commander in the United States Navy and a United States Navy SEAL. His fifteen year career has included deployments throughout South America, Europe, and the Middle East in support of the War on Drugs, operations in Bosnia and Kosovo, and Operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom. His most recent assignment at SEAL Team TEN included seven months as the Deputy Commander for all Special Operations Forces in Al-Anbar province, Iraq. In 2002, Mike was chosen as the Navy's "Politico-Military Fellow" and subsequently received his M.A. in Public Policy from Harvard's J.F.K. School of Government. Mike received his B.A. from Holy Cross College, where he was an active Big Brother. His military decorations include the Combat Action Ribbon and the Bronze Star (with "V") for valor in combat. Mike's work has been published by the RAND Corporation; he is active in the Knights of Columbus, and fluent in German and Spanish. Work Placement: National Security Council, The White House.

SARITA JAMES

Hometown: Fort Wayne, Indiana. Sarita James most recently served as Senior Vice President of the 50-person Strategy and Policy Division at New York City Economic Development Corporation. Prior to NYCEDC, Sarita worked as a management consultant for McKinsey & Company, where she advised clients in the technology and telecommunications industries. She began her career as a Program Manager at Microsoft Corporation, where she was awarded two patents and served on the board of its 2000+-member women's organization. In 1994, she received the Grand Prize at the International Science and Engineering Fair for her research on software speech recognition. Sarita's humor writing has appeared in The New York Times, and she has received a first offer on her upcoming memoir, Indian in Indiana: Adventures of a Misfit from America's Heartland. She has run the 2003 ING New York City Marathon and cycled in the 2000 Seattle to Portland Bicycle Classic, a 200-mile, one-day event. Sarita spent a formative summer volunteering with Mother Teresa's orphanage in Calcutta and serves on the board of Ankur Kala, a Calcutta-based women's non-profit organization. She received a B.A. in Computer Science from Harvard College and her M.B.A. from Oxford University's Said Business School.

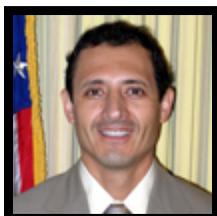

Work Placement: Department of Energy.

THE 2008-2009 CLASS OF WHITE HOUSE FELLOWS

RYAN JANOVIC

Hometown: Akron, Ohio. Ryan Janovic is a Major in the United States Army and a credentialed Special Agent with fifteen years of experience within the national intelligence community. He deployed in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom, where he worked political, military, and economic effects coordination within the U.S. Embassy – Baghdad. He facilitated and directly participated in bilateral engagements with four of Iraq's neighbors, to include unprecedented talks in Syria and Saudi Arabia. Most recently, Ryan was the Operations Officer for the Army's largest strategic counterintelligence unit, responsible for sensitive espionage and counterterrorism investigations and operations throughout the United States and overseas. As a Captain, he was one of only eighteen officers throughout the Army selected to receive the General Douglas MacArthur Leadership Award. As the youngest ever Eagle Scout in Summit County, Ryan represented Ohio at the World Jamboree in Sydney, Australia. He remains very involved with Scouting and assisting victims of violent crimes as part of the Victim Witness Assistance Program. A graduate of the Army's Command and General Staff College, he holds an additional qualifier as an Army Strategist. He received his B.S. degree from the United States Military Academy and his M.B.A. from Webster University. Work Placement: Department of Agriculture.

DAVID LOAIZA

Hometown: Santa Fe, New Mexico. David Loaiza most recently served as a technical staff member at the Los Alamos National Laboratory and an advisor to the Department of Energy's Office of Dismantlement and Transparency. He contributed to the development of U.S. non-proliferation policy at the national and international level. He worked as a technical team lead for U.S. Delegations monitoring the denuclearization of North Korea and additionally provided technical briefs and training to the International Atomic Energy Agency. David has fourteen years of experience leading research programs in radiation detection and critical mass experiments. He has performed experiments with highly enriched uranium, plutonium and neptunium to support the DOE Nuclear Spent Fuel, Nuclear Criticality Safety and Nonproliferation Programs as well as Yucca Mountain Project and NASA. He has published and presented his work at national and international conferences. His interests include running marathons, playing polo, soccer, and ballroom dancing. David is proficient in Spanish, French, Italian and Russian. He holds a B.S., M.S., and PhD. in Nuclear Engineering and an M.B.A. from the University of New Mexico. Work Placement: Office of Management and Budget

NICOLE MALACHOWSKI

Hometown: Las Vegas, Nevada. Nicole M. E. Malachowski is a Major in the United States Air Force with over 2,100 flying hours. She flew the F-15E in three operational fighter squadrons, gaining combat hours in Operation DELIBERATE FORGE and Operation IRAQI FREEDOM, and was honored to provide air cover over Baghdad, Iraq, on their historic election day. Nicole also flew the F-16C/D as Thunderbird #3 with the USAF Air Demonstration Squadron and was the first woman to fly on any Department of Defense military jet demonstration team. She proudly served alongside the United States Army 2nd Infantry Division, Republic of Korea, as an Air Liaison Officer. Malachowski most recently served as Deputy Chief, Commander's Action Group, at the United States Air Force Warfare Center. She received her B.S. in Management, with a minor in French, from the U.S. Air Force Academy and recently earned an M.A., with honors, in National Security Policy from American Military University. Recognized for her community contributions, Nicole was honored with a Nevada State Assembly Resolution and inducted to the "Women in Aviation International Pioneer Hall of Fame." Dedicated to mentoring the next generation of Americans, she is a frequent motivational speaker at local, state, and national events. Work Placement: General Services Administration.

THE 2008-2009 CLASS OF WHITE HOUSE FELLOWS

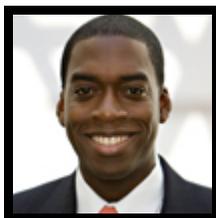

CHRISTOPHER MEYER

Hometown: Shreveport, Louisiana. Chris Meyer most recently was a Health Policy Fellow at the Heritage Foundation in Washington, D.C. In 2004, he became a Teach For America Corps Member in New Orleans, where he taught high school social studies and coached basketball. After Hurricane Katrina, he led over 200 evacuee students to achieve significant academic gains. In recognition of his teaching success and dedication to the New Orleans community, Meyer was selected as a school principal for Teach For America's summer institute. Beyond the classroom, Meyer has served as a Policy Coordinator for Louisiana Governor Bobby Jindal. He owns a small business in his hometown, Shreveport, LA, and has volunteered and interned at the White House, in Congress, and in the Office of the Mayor of New York City. Meyer is the youngest person to be elected as a Louisiana delegate to the Republican National Convention, where in 2004 he spoke about education reform. He recently received his M.P.P from Harvard's Kennedy School of Government where he was a Public Service Fellow and teaching assistant. He is a Phi Beta Kappa, summa cum laude graduate of Tulane University where he received his B.A. in Political Science and Political Economy. He and his wife Alice are committed to working to strengthen Louisiana. Work Placement: Department of Defense.

EYRIQUE MILLER

Hometown: Middletown, New Jersey. Eyrique Miller most recently worked on behalf of Citicorp as the Director of Entrepreneur Services for Endeavor, a non-profit focused on high-impact entrepreneurship in emerging markets. Prior to assuming this role, Eyrique was a Vice President in Citi's Global Technology Investment Banking Group providing technology clients with advice on a broad range of transactions including both mergers and acquisitions and financing, and was responsible for managing all aspects of transaction execution. Eyrique earned an M.B.A. in Finance and Entrepreneurial Management from the Wharton School. Prior to Wharton, he worked at Lucent Technologies as a systems engineer in Optical Networking and Communications Software. He holds an M.S.E. in Telecommunications and Networking from the University of Pennsylvania. Eyrique graduated from Rutgers University cum laude with a B.S. in Industrial Engineering as a NACME Corporate Scholar. In his community, he serves on the board of The York Street Project, an organization that provides housing, education and daycare services to homeless women and their children and has been a volunteer with Rising Tide Capital, a non-profit organization dedicated to the economic empowerment of low-income communities through entrepreneurship, and New York Cares as part of their annual Secret Santa Program. Work Placement: Millennium Challenge Corporation.

DAVID RAWLINSON

Hometown: Rock Hill, South Carolina. David Rawlinson served as the class commencement speaker at his recent graduation from Harvard Business School where he earned his M.B.A. While attending Harvard, he served as the Editor-in-Chief of The Harbus, the historic Harvard Business School weekly. Prior to enrolling in business school, David practiced with the law firms of Locke, Liddell & Sapp, and Kirkpatrick & Lockhart Nicholson Graham (K&L). His practice included representing Fortune 100 companies before domestic and international agencies and courts. David served as the associate representative to K&L's management committee. He frequently presents on subjects related to his legal expertise, including submitting testimony to the U.S. Congress. David received a J.D. from the University of South Carolina. He received his B.A. in Political Science from The Citadel. David was appointed in 1997 to the White House Conference on Youth, Drugs and Violence. He also served on the Dallas Tax Increment Finance Board, graduated from Leadership Dallas, and is a Truman Scholar. He has also served on numerous non-profit boards of directors, including the board of Bryan's House, a pediatric HIV/AIDS organization. Work Placement: Chief of Staff, The White House.

2008-2009 CLASS OF WHITE HOUSE FELLOWS

JASON SNYDER

Hometown: Los Angeles, California.

Jason Snyder most recently served as a social studies teacher at Wakefield High School in Arlington, Virginia.

He has taught government, history, and economics for six years in public secondary schools and for one year at the China Foreign Affairs University in Beijing. Prior to teaching at Wakefield High School, Jason practiced education and appellate law at Hogan & Hartson LLP, where he advised school districts and drafted briefs in appellate courts, including the U.S. Supreme Court. He also served as a law clerk to a federal judge at the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. Among his community activities, Jason founded a Cub Scout pack in a public housing development, represented children as a guardian ad litem, and served on the Board of Trustees of a public charter school. Jason earned a J.D. from UC Berkeley School of Law, a M.Ed. from U.C.L.A., and an A.B., with honors, in Public Policy from Stanford University. He served as Stanford student body co-president and Editor-in-Chief of the California Law Review at Berkeley. Jason is currently pursuing a doctorate in urban education leadership from Columbia University Teachers College. He enjoys spending his free time with his wife and young daughter. Work Placement: Department of Education.

EVERETT SPAIN

Hometown: Pensacola, Florida. Everett S. Spain is a United States Army Officer. He recently returned from 18 months as the Aide-de-Camp to the Commanding General, Multi-National Force-Iraq. Previously, he served as an Assistant Professor at West Point, where he designed the course Leading Organizations through Change, served as the Director for the Cubbies Club (seventy toddlers), and volunteered for the Orange County Special Olympics. As a Company Commander in Europe and Kosovo, his unit received the Itschner Award, given annually to the most outstanding engineer company in the United States Army. As a junior officer at Fort Bragg, Everett won the 82d Airborne Division Best Ranger Team Competition. An undergraduate at West Point, Everett competed on the Triathlon Team, served as the Brigade Executive Officer, and received the Association of Graduates Award for finishing third in his class. While earning his M.B.A. from Duke University, he was selected by his peers for the Spaulding Award for Leadership. Everett has published several articles on leadership and received the MacArthur Leadership Writing Award. Everett is also the recipient of the Combat Action Badge, Bronze Star Medal, Master Parachutist Wings, and the Purple Heart. Everett and Julia Spain are the proud parents of four children. Work Placement: Department of the Treasury.

EVENTS AND SPEAKERS

President George W. Bush

October 2 | The White House

Heritage Foundation Briefing

October 7 | The Heritage Foundation

Former White House Chief of Staff Andy Card

October 9 | 712 Jackson Place

Roger Porter, Kennedy School of Government

October 22 | 712 Jackson Place

White House Fellows Foundation and Association Annual Meeting

October 23-25 | Washington, DC

Domestic Study Trip

October 27-30 | Detroit, MI & Chicago, IL

Governor Jeb Bush

October 31 | 712 Jackson Place

US Chamber of Commerce President

Tom Donohue Reception and Dinner

November 13 | US Chamber of Commerce

White House Fellows Founder's Month Events in New York, Seattle, Boston, Stanford University, Washington, and Chicago

Please visit www.whff.org for full details.

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Janet Abrams (94-95) is the Director of the Public Management Program at the Stanford Graduate School of Business.

Bobbie Doorenbos (07-08) has been assigned as a speechwriter in the National Guard Bureau in Washington, DC.

Dawn Dunlop (07-08) is the Chief of the Senate Liaison Division for the Department of the Air Force.

Eric Greitens (05-06) Leading Authorities has just published his book, Strength and Compassion.

Jonathan George (88-89) is the Principal Deputy Assistant Administrator for Military Applications, Office of Defense Programs, in the Department of Energy's National Nuclear Security Administration in Washington, DC.

Bob Johnson (87-88) is Vice President, Strategy and Planning, Ground Systems for BAE Corporation in Rosslyn, VA.

Fred Kacher (04-05) is the Commanding Officer of the USS Stockdale.

Sharon Kiely (94-95) is the Medical Director for Quality and Patient Safety at Allegheny General Hospital and Associate Professor of Medicine at Drexel University College of Medicine in Pittsburgh, PA.

Jerome Loughridge (03-04) is the Chief Operating Officer for Great White Energy Services in Oklahoma City, OK.

Alan Marty (88-89) has been named Managing Partner of Legacy Venture in Palo Alto, CA.

Travis Matheson (07-08) has returned to the Washington State Patrol, where he is a Lieutenant in the Criminal Investigation Division.

Pat McClanahan (04-05) has graduated from the Industrial College of the Armed Forces at the National Defense University and is now assigned to the J-4 Directorate (Logistics), The Joint Staff, in the Pentagon.

Mark Montgomery (98-99) is the Commander of Destroyer Squadron FIFTEEN homeported in Coronado, CA.

Stuart Munsch (00-01) is the Commander of Submarine Development Squadron FIVE, homeported in Silverdale, WA.

Sean O'Connor (97-98) has relinquished command of the USS Lake Champlain and reported to the J-8 Directorate of the Joint Staff in the Pentagon, where he is Chief of the Program and Budget Analysis Division.

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Ed Rice (90-91) is the Commander of U.S. Air Force, Japan, and 5th Air Force.

Lois Scott (97-98) has been promoted from Managing Director to President of Scott Balice Strategies, LLC in Chicago, IL.

Andy Smarick (07-08) is now the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Education, OPEPD, in Washington, DC.

Dan Sullivan (02-03) is the Assistant Secretary of State for Economics, Energy and Business Affairs.

John Tien (98-99) has completed his Senior Service College Fellowship at the JFK School of Government and reported to the National Security Council, where he is manning the Iraq/Afghanistan desk.

Ariel Zwang (99-00) has left her position as Executive Director of New York Cares to become the CEO of Safe Horizon in New York City.

STAFF UPDATES

Staff Assistant Sally Griffith (pictured left) joined the staff on September 3. She graduated from Wake Forest with a BA in English and recently completed an internship in the White House Office of Communications.

Congratulations to Education Director Page Kral and her husband Ted on the birth of their son, Winn, on Tuesday, August 5.

ABOUT THE WHITE HOUSE FELLOWS PROGRAM

The White House Fellows Program is a non-partisan program that offers exceptional young leaders firsthand experience working at the highest levels of the Federal government.

Fellowship Selection Criteria:

- A record of remarkable professional achievement early in one's career.
- Evidence of strong leadership skills and the potential for further growth.
- A demonstrated commitment to public service.
- The knowledge and skills necessary to contribute successfully at the highest levels of the Federal government.

For more information, please visit our webpage at <http://www.whitehouse.gov/fellows>.

The President's Commission on White House Fellowships

Phone: 202-395-4522 Fax: 202-395-6179

Please send any comments, submissions or other newsletter-related communication to WhiteHouseFellows@whf.eop.gov