Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Maxine Fraade

24018-5729
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lisa Rademacher

27607-3969
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mark Wyzenbeek

85029-3253
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Charles Jones

73120-7128
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bree M

55044
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Broderick

19380
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eileen Keller

98502-2518
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gary Marshall

19522
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

0'Neill Louchard

93291-9713
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rose Marie Jacobs

95017-9708
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

President Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear President Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

What the hell happened to the RIGHT to Privacy? Is this a democracy anymore??
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

George Leone

93422-6514
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Julie Brown

98513-4928
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leslie Bradford

73170
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eleanor Yasgur

07666-4307
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Peter Kahigian

01832-1269
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vickie Williams

97113-6215
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Colwill

19312-1411
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Naomi Steinfeld

90815-3941
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ken Cohn

45415-3526
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Harley Armentrout

86323
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jon Hager

84065
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Schwarze

60490-3121
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeni Paltiel

94611-3245
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Debra Westman

32955
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Traupman

33313
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susaan Aram

92651-2829
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jean Hodgins

12020-3544
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Serge Lindor

06382
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Amy Roberts

97321-9637
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Heather Lawson

38104
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jan Crenshaw

77015-3132
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tracey Ahring

72629-7353
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gregory Kramer

62704-1705
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Lairson

47374-8062
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Lee Johns

77084
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laura Hahn

13212-1317
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Olga Abella

62454-4227
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Want to ensure Americas elected officals are elected by each citizen voting their thoughts? Kill citizens united! Where fat cat business interest over whelm citizens with fake news. One person one vote and a low limit on the amount one person can donate to propaganda press's. Not one vote per company, but ten dollars per company or ten dollars per person.

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Glen Smith

43026
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Diane Lesser

29860-9620
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Beeler II

21713-1711
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Kalinowski

10032-6044
First they came for the Socialists, and I did not speak out--
Because I was not a Socialist.

Then they came for the Trade Unionists, and I did not speak out--
Because I was not a Trade Unionist.

Then they came for the Jews, and I did not speak out--
Because I was not a Jew.

Then they came for me--and there was no one left to speak for me.

The Pence-Kobach commission is coming for all voters. Including those who Pence and Kobach say they are defending.

Sincerely,

Ken Zimmerman

89074
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Stacy Seaver

13676-1608
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Jones-Schauble

61318
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Howardena Pindell

10034-5337
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Hardy

98502-9576
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Roy Cheatham

77318
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Suzanne Ryon

80439
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lynn Barlar

63143-2117
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sharon Wise

84123-3661
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Caron Cohen

10075-8875
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I’m deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission’s recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I’m glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dan Gonzalez

92129-3819
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Christina Camacho

11375-1141
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Hazey
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Franz

60181-3224
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lori Smith

92234-6726
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Matthew Slifka

60134-2994
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Deanna Bowling

78218
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bill Wood

96067-9710
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lyn Strangstad

53565-1241
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joseph Rys

94577
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

JUNE CAMPBELL

85719-3644
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Greg Kimber

04984-0525
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Benjamin Dishman

37221-4351
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Banach

33441-4995
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Claude9 Beavers

48910-2535
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Young

86001-5230
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mark Legault

01550
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brant Kotch

77024
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Williams

89103
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Frary

87401
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elaine Livingston

13850-3321
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Viola Richards

66215
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jimc Luebke

54935-4585
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Larry Keyes

05456-9661
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Sherrill

28730
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sondra Jacob

30052-9074
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Adam Auerbach

80302
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marc Azar

00123
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

M Port

33472
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I am actually outraged. And I find it so hard to believe that Trump has so many people in high places are sucking up to him. I do not want my information shared. I do not believe he had the popular vote.

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Shawn Troxell

78130-5303
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brian Ksiazek

14222-1313
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Donna Woods

98022-2620
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dana Wilson

24522-8278
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

E. Brooks

30028-0095
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cynthia Cuellar

22031-3522
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Steven Eggen

41031-8527
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathy OBrien

95560
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vincent Nicoletti

80128-6102
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Hill

29301-4434
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeremiah Avins

08824-1305
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lena Khatcherian

08540
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

The 'Integrity' in the commission's name seems to be for show only. In a representative democracy, there is no integrity in voter suppression.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Douglas Meyer

06437-1817
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mercedes Roman

94066
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pat Ellison

98644
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Helen Mendoza

13480-2118
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

aida suidan

30305
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Christoff

10602
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ryan Acebo

94602-3444
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vicki Muse

95010
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Diane Mojica

91006-4931
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

In addition, THIS IS A WASTE OF TAXPAYER MONEY! Our nation is facing many very serious issues. STOP wasting time on nonsense!

Sincerely,

Susan Leviton

91436
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Billy Angus

59840-2108
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lionel Ruberg

18940-2418
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brian Wilkerson

55442
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laurie Long

94901-1938
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Teresa Zamalloa

20187-4556
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bernard Martinek

75119-7226
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jolie Pate

02114
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Julie Carlisle

30506-1723
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lisa McKillop

20777
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Arianthe Stettner

80487-8823
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Beverly Linton

02476-7006
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Debra Westman

32955
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Talbert

98118
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ed Davie

97116-1295
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Donald Schwartz

21209-1034
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laura Reiher

48130
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

Everyone with a brain knows this is a waste of time and energy to address a nonexistent problem. You should be ashamed to waste the taxpayers' time and money on this effort. Donald Trump is delusional if he really thinks that millions of inappropriate votes cost him the popular vote when the simple fact is that the majority of the Americans who voted in the election chose Hillary Clinton.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Fahrenbruch

98105-3830
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Burnett

19709-1708
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Merrill

03887-4469
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elke Savala

94530-3824
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janet Rudd

37743
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brant Kotch

77024
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Josephine Salazar

95020
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Angela Hoyes

91737-3936
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jean Wiggin

70420-3605
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lita Hetherington

19946-0093
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary StClair

63103
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jani Sutherland

83333-8642
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cesar Gonzales

10536
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bryan Lilienkamp

46208-3712
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Langenhahn

15237-4334
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Danielle Shannon

60618-6722
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Miles

35802-4196
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Suzanne Griffin

80524-2222
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eric Haskins

96720-1073
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

veronica guerra

78413
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Emily Pitner

15301
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Langenhahn

15237-4334
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I strongly oppose any government attempt to data mine or collect personal voter information for the political purposes of intimidating voters or suppressing voter turnout.

I’m deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission’s recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I’m glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections by allowing automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it.

I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Anyone who willfully engages in voter suppression tactics risks prosecution and should think twice before looking into a mirror.

Sincerely,

Allan Huffaker

90302
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Brennan

92399-4829
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janice Horn

16214-1603
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Karen Zink

97210
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Goings

93265-9496
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Erna Bates

43137
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Nelson

80220-5901
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Deborah Cunningham

21209-4125
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rebecca Augustin

85350
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joan Merrill

94523-3643
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Hilda Richey

54634-3145
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Maves

92262-2321
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Betty Jo Sinski

75098-3761
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

J. Allen Feryok

15062-1925
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sara Langley

90807-4234
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

charles rand

95460-0484
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rita Boone

46123-7895
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Foster

93704
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judith Bentley

97338-3194
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Yet, ANOTHER distraction, President Trump! You need to focus on what's important like getting more Americans rewarding & WELL-paying JOBS!

Sincerely,

Jacqueline Braun

73034-7229
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Molver

92596
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joseph Kelty

48327-2962
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

s m

28304
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Connie Edgemon

75243-6213
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mecky Myers

90277-3243
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nikki Schipman

28227-4341
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pete Martinez

33573
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sanford Gallanter

94121-1041
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Neevel

98225-7706
From: Common Cause on behalf of Audry Heath
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 11:13:37 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Audry Heath

76065-3716
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

The Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

Thankfully state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters!

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. Do not try to intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising our right to vote.

Sincerely,

Steve Dickman

13850-4027
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robin Cook

22209-1179
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Harper

95012-2926
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Mckelvie

80012-1260
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Christopher Tuch

78130-3811
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Verne Bailey

37421
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lorretta Marcel

94134-1220
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ellen Woodbury

80537-8010
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Ceithaml

60123-3438
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that libtards are opposing Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country to determine if they in fact exist.

I'm angry that state election officials have put politics ahead of their duty to voters to ensure their vote has actual meaning, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated by these self-serving tactics.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every voter really IS eligible to vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using fake 'votes' by cadavers or multiple votes by the same people. Our elections are too important to allow tactics like automatic voter registration and Election Day voter registration. Americans can vote if they wish to. Making it easier for the Parties to cheat the People is unacceptable.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let smarmy politicians to intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote, and to have that vote count as it should.

Sincerely,

Lawrence Hooten

92570-1602
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elisabeth Seaman

94041-2247
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Abigail Ann Fanestil

98382-3788
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.
Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jennie Angell

95490
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeanne Master

87114-1842
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bret Allen

84310-9539
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rebecca Nimmons

98006-4807
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Sharpee

53960
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that libtards are opposing Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country to determine if they in fact exist.

I'm angry that state election officials have put politics ahead of their duty to voters to ensure their vote has actual meaning, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated by these self-serving tactics.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every voter really IS eligible to vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using fake 'votes' by cadavers or multiple votes by the same people. Our elections are too important to allow tactics like automatic voter registration and Election Day voter registration. Americans can vote if they wish to. Making it easier for the Parties to cheat the People is unacceptable.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let smarmy politicians to intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote, and to have that vote count as it should.

Sincerely,

Lawrence Hooten

92570-1602
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judith Fletcher

10463-1820
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that a majority of state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Craig Bert

80104-1866
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Leaver

33852-6169
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Beau Bushor

13327-2604
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Thomas Russell

06525-1405
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Jacobs

11201-6302
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ardella Nathanael

94903
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Amici

92691-2527
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Theresa Shimmel

06897-3121
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michelle Hernandez

94041-1371
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jacqueline Lehman

20678-4163
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, physical ballots as a backup in case our election systems are hacked, and early voting are important steps to increase confidence in access and our voting outcomes.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Heggie

94112-1337
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Devin Henry

14802
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gintas Janusonis

11205-1067
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Hoover

20872
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Thomas Wicks

97239-1154
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

D. Chalfin

01702
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

B. H

21713
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Charlie Clark

97242
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Anna Driskill

64068-9368
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jane McDougall

80904
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Wiesenfeld

11238-5033
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lindsey Shepherd

06897-1001
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dee Ann Lippincott

82604
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Antoinette Emch

98683-8111
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Virginia Landry

71463
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Shields

93105-2805
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Caraballo

60540-5522
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sheila Cowden

85259-6959
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Diane Soddy

46765-9742
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Smith

60033-3620
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

DAVID BILLINGHAM, LCSW

60641-1435
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

daniel george

19027
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Phillip Przestrzelski

29650
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Grady Burrell

31763-5378
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jared Cornelia

19804-3505
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Christie Gesler

15235-1464
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Victoria Marcello

01826-5228
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Daniel Barrett

02460
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Sasser

15241
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm totally opposed in a democracy that the Pence-Kobach commission is requesting private information about every voter in the country. This is unacceptable!!

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Feingold

60610
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jason Weinstock

95355-9203
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marlene Brown

60073-3594
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Samuel Burson

76306
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

K. R. Di Donna

92038-1434
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Andrea Courtney

67203
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Karen Lometti

10604
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Howard Keenan

60068-5467
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Carver

98642-9344
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. How dare you you fascists. Have you ever wanted to know how Hitler found the Jews, gays, disabled, mentally ill, gypsies that he sent to death camps? Your plan is fascism and the first step to send all these people and other's to Trump's death camps. We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

We end citizens united and get money out of politics. We must insist that this be on the ballot in November 2018 since the Congress has no intention of ending their gravy train. We must also have election reforms. We must have term limits for Congress and the SCOTUS, ban voting machines and require paper ballots only, outlaw Gerrymandering completely, make ANY law restricting voting illegal, make all elections publicly funded with no contributions allowed, extend voting dates and times, make election fraud a capital crime, make voting fraud a mandatory 20 years in prison, allow voting on Sundays, ban the networks from reporting second by second results and make them wait until all polls are close, make voting mandatory, allow felons to vote once they have paid their price to society, require all candidates to pass an IQ test, a drug test, and show 10 years of their tax returns.. Do a criminal background check for all candidates, require networks to set aside free time for all candidates, bring back the Fairness Doctrine, bring back the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, raise income taxes to the level they were before Saint Raygun fucked the middle class. I am sure you can think of many more Republican atrocities that need to be righted. Put all of this on the ballot for November 2018. If the feds will not do it then we need to require the States to do it or their votes will not be counted.

Sincerely,

John Best

87002-9525
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Beth Kieft

80222-6541
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Arnold Koch

13851-0088
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Nobody is free, until everybody is free, to vote!

Sincerely,

Tammie Saiki

96707-4301
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Aaron Ucko

20850-5880
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Virginia Breza

08638-1720
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mara Hernandez

94709-2113
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Carroll

95139-1163
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

George Breza

08638-1720
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

You have made sure that I will be voting in my elections in November.

Sincerely,

Barbara Van Walsen

08057-1643
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lydia Garvey

73601-3713
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carla Hess

96708
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Andrew Hinz

21217-4231
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Roberto Romo

94121-3025
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Suzanne Challinor

80238-2668
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. They are disgraceful and HATE this country. This commission is total and absolute b.s. It should NOT exist.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Andrew R.

21502
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pete Martinez

34312
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eva Marks

12302-1410
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Peggy Clarke

78412
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Shelley Mack

96793-3516
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eve Rosenfeld

07726
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dolores Rosenwasser

86301-4161
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Memmert

10027-5006
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Danielle C

29414
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Clark

16509-4961
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Doris Mitchell-Gonzalez

10019
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Thomas Snyder

44805
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Agnes Peters

93245
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

This commission to investigate this so called fraudulent vote that is a figment of Mr Trumps and his follower's minds. Vote fraud is virtually non-existent in this country, indeed, the only prosecution so far, despite Mr Trump's insistence, has been one person, in Iowa, of all places, a state Mr Trump won. The two votes cast were for Mr Trump. This commission has the power to destroy voting rights on a grand scale, it reminds me of the Nazi Anchluss with its wildly inflated voting totals for the Nazi Party, something totally make believe, like this idea of vote fraud. Get it straight, voter fraud is very rare, indeed, Attorney General Sessions when he was attorney general of Alabama, despite a through investigation, found less that fifty fraudulent votes. Get a real problem like overcoming and removing voter suppression that is taking place.

Sincerely,

Glenn Kraus

80909-2567
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

I Avila

92126
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Jo Vickoren

59404-1612
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Chan

96813-5048
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gail Buchalter

21659-1200
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Charles Klemm

31211-1760
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Amy Hui Johnson

95473
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marie Therese Matthews

97420
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gérard COUCHOUĐ

91120
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Charlotte Klieman

33176
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kay Reinfried

17543-8868
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Roberta Anderson

60069-2104
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mike Acerra

07830-3413
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sally Van Meter

43065
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Doyle

30736
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Martinez

90033-1854
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alex Hall

08618
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Weismantel

03867
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Herbert Jeschke

19004
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Cabana

11720
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

A Nicholas

23462
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nick Bruno

98087
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Keith Kellogg

95060-2805
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tracy Eve

21046-1244
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cynthia Blackledge

40351-1840
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Craig Shipler

10036
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lawrence Lutz

44512-4019
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dennis Simpson

75011-1069
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Agnes Peters

93245
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kyra Mikala

60503-5751
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

terry felts

98023
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tim Staniszewski

19901
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeff Washburn

38225-4349
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Julie Maurer

66218
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Aguirre

48451-9793
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Gilchrist

48390-3581
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Myjak

32780
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote. Any Commission on Voting should be towards making sure that EVERY ELIGIBLE AMERICAN IS SIGNED UP TO VOTE!

Sincerely,

Ron Spies

97341-9780
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Harold Watson

65802-5252
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Veronica Bourassa

37332-3269
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lydia Shepard

60643-4511
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Charles Mace

37207-3321
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Deborah Spaulding

80521-3119
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Christine Milne

93110-4076
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Deubner

75025
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Zach Wheaton

93291
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mike Crull

81005
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Ninde

94521-5020
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lee White

33708-4800
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Daniel Kelley

02048-2635
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Scott Ogilvie

85020
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Smaluk-Nix

40214-1647
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dorothy Solomon

12526-5317
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary T Petrich

15201
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I’m deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I’m glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Winston Blakely

11216-1565
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judi Schutz

32824-6066
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Becky Anderson

98229-5367
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jon Hayenga

55976
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Harper

30601-1120
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Keith Walsh

11201-3064
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Reginald Fleming

33016-5921
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alice Jena

11418-1246
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Molly Roberts

33480
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Betty Harris

73072
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alice Parra

22963-2419
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Fontanella

99801
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Your actions are contrary to everything our Republic has stood for for over 200 years. I will work tirelessly to remove you from office. I am sickened and angered by what is happening to my country. I grieve for my children and grandchildren who don't yet know what is at risk.

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marcia Power

37923
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Zoe Kane

43606-1834
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gerald Hoffman

50010
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ruth Harshfield

97223
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Sue Scholl

43130-3221
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Thompson

81507
From: Common Cause on behalf of John Pelletier
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 10:43:31 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Pelletier

02460
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Fraser

10512-4617
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Maria Morley

34202
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Walker

34987-2501
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Beasley

30329-1009
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Francine Shacter

85710-1155
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Moore

32926-4244
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Calum Traveler

80401-4663
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Rayment

85207-3006
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Philip Reina

85020-4161
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sue Doty

85204
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judy Kalan

53593
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Virginia Harstad Glawe

98115
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the start of a push for nationwide voting restrictions. Was that action even legal?!

I'm glad that many state election officials have put their duty to follow the law above this attack on voters, and I want you to know that attempting intimidated is not acceptable, and that is what this looks like.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all.

Sincerely,

C.J. Livingston

98115-3537
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tina Ann

94924-0265
From: Common Cause on behalf of Carol Bayens
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 10:43:29 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Bayens

77055-6855
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cynthia Linton

38655-9657
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Champion

50009-8815
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Colleen Fedor

94501
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judi Travis

33446
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Peter Sturges

02138-3337
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Karen Harrity

13077
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ivan Huber

90045-1141
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Anne Ederington

30319-1350
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it.

I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Annette Stone

79936
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Renée Miron-Alimpich

48362
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Holt

87505-8836
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cliff Terry

21207-5321
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Charles Powers

32934-7679
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Juan and Maria Balboa

92583
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joseph Szabo

90045-4332
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bruce McLaughlin

14625-1412
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Caroline Robinson

21075
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Thomas Silvers

44240-6616
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Stephen Lafollette

47302-9654
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leigh Fox

56660-0001
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joy Laclaire

59718-3658
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

With the threats we have heard for our elections or in other countries, why would we put all that info on one computer and it sounds like it wouldn't even be secured. So it doesn't sound like that is why you are so concerned about this program.

Sincerely,

Lowell Johnson

28791-2830
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Angie Bray

90291-3970
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I am sorely troubled that this commission even exists; it is based on thoroughly debunked falsehoods about massive in-person “voting fraud.” So of course I am deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission’s recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push targeted nationwide voting restrictions.

I’m glad that so many state election officials have put their duty to our democracy above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that we the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

If you are truly interested in election integrity, you should support the Election Assistance Commission, to help all states use modern secure voting machines with auditable paper records, and to perform statistically meaningful audits.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Canright

93940
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Chris Bennett

38344-7466
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Derek Benedict

98036-8606
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dana Sklar

08034
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laura Dekker

95409
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Terri Kapsalis

60626-2315
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eileen Segall

10016
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeanne Faust

21009-1923
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ina Groves

37934
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

M Newler

10950
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Calamaco

78201-4525
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Everyone knows that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ruth Siekevitz

10023-3901
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Martha Armas

11373-2553
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Yetter

98346-9354
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Amy Chisholm

59937-2817
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jc Sarmiento

94110-3086
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeff Burns

80120-4375
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joseph Werzinski

18938-1075
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patrick Aurelio

95060
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

frieda forsley

25302
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sabrina Wilsdon

80305
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Al Beltram

97321-7405
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Wells

12144
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janette Letson

80226
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mitra Shams

40059
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Barber

28905
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joan Sitomer

06611-3344
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jo Feder

80129
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kim Bourner

49009-8514
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Barger

97206-8418
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sharon Lee

99508-3030
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alan Kittelson

05491-1129
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Suzanne Kirby

11964
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

L S

01702-6531
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Roger Nystrom

98026-3515
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Andrea Kuenning

55407-2802
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cindy Franklin

91324
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sherrill Futrell

95618-5421
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Mcconkey

99508-5396
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sally Howlett

94703-1147
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Starr Fioca

19963
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nicholas Penning

22205-1320
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Randy Caffejian

93704-5445
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

J S

07047
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. There is absolutely no evidence to support some claims that illegal voting is a problem in this country! There is strong evidence that the Russian government has tried, and will continue to try to meddle in our elections!

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Margaret Carter

21639-1345
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lori Williams

54914
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joyce Newport

98335-6689
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Helen Pellegrin

94109-3403
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brita Rice

99801-8433
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dave Mills

78644-1812
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lisa Fues

22301-1519
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Debi Combs

30033-4923
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Gallaher

25705
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jean Brooks

39203
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dawn Albanese

60007-1718
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

alison gimberlein

11702
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Deborah Hamilton

94565-1634
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Larissa Gula

15228-1236
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Edelen

40219
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eileen Riccio

34450
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Edward Savage

24153-4302
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. Our right to a free unobstructed voting process our personal and private business. None of that information should be made public and placed on lists of any kind. As long as we citizens are legally registered voters in the states, counties, and cities we live in, none of this information should be provided to the federal government. It can only lead to more misconduct by the two major parties in this country and negatively impact future elections.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Hall

16506-6045
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sheila Kojm

01730-1830
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Expand the franchise, make it easier to register and to vote, stop wasting taxpayer dollars and close this commission down.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Dennis Moninghoff
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laurie Muok

13039-8871
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Diane Huigen

99224
From: Common Cause on behalf of Gregory Malueg
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 10:23:35 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gregory Malueg

53511-2729
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dwight Johnson

06074-3131
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ann Metcalf

03824-2800
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lindsay Hoyt

12412-5214
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Johanna Wermers

20850-3729
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dianne Doochin

37215-4548
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Harry Hudson

08260-4129
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Beverley Rattray

33025
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vasu Murti

94611-1166
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Diana Rothman

95060-3640
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Cardwell

75418
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Wood

98445-6907
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Presley Garrett

89144
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Aida Sheets

33710-6152
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Mr. Trump's bogus claim that millions voted illegally isn't justified by ANY statistics, and his appointment of a commission to investigate this claim is a huge waste of tax payer's money. Right after Trump made his assertion, even Paul Ryan commented on national media that he felt this was unjustified.

I am more concerned that we have an Electoral College which skews the votes of all Americans, giving more power to some states than others. We need a National Majority Vote so that the person with the most popular votes wins. Period.

Sincerely,

Anita M. Jensen

54656
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rosemary Delpino

16001-5540
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kate Norman

13060
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Michler Detmer

37130-6831
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Holly Richards

77573-3936
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

"Make America Great Again" keep my rights awarded by the Constitution.

Sincerely,

Susan Mosher

12303-2759
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Gebauer

53703-1473
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Connie McPherson

37620
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sharon Pierce

34491
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Hyche

35057-4028
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ann Sutherin

43235
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Allan Gruet

11104-3258
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Gerry

94132
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Thonni Morikawa

97355-0809
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

D Randolph Johnson

21037-4804
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kelley Keisch

63379-3968
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Higgins

18042-6562
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Victoria Herrera

07042
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sheryl Schmatjen

80723
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Deborah Elsas

53705-4605
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Holden Maecker

94303
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

It should be your first duty, as I see it, to ensure that there will never again be any foreign interference in US elections. THAT is what you should be working on, not on eliminating a problem that does not exist such as your trumped up claims of rampant voter fraud. YOU are the fraudulent party here, NOT the American voters!

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Louise Amyot

01301
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Annie Wang

10025-3630
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Yvette Harris

35749
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I see this for what it is: the "big lie" technique once used by Goebbels to bring the Nazis to power. There is NO fraudulent voting evidence; this is a ploy to provoke a Pavlovian knee-jerk reaction. Anything to distract citizens from the beerhall putsch Trump backers want to stage.

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Randolph Williams

06068-0326
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

A K

10566
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Penelope Navone

95425-5420
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Diane Petersen

75035-8392
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Doris Munger

06840-6824
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lynn Hoang

92833-1557
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Fry

85140-7115
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eli Solesby

29323-0553
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Arlene Jennings

01060-4506
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Nazzaro

41091-9086
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tisha Douthwaite

95482-1386
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lucy Morgan Vogt

63126-2015
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tracy Taylor

76549
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sue White

76022-6615
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leora Troyer

44618
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

B.L. Melton

77630
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Haddad
04473
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Norm Stanley

92399-0261
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Williams

70151
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Falk

99516-4828
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cesar Raposo

13760-3237
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Stinson

80503-7141
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Polly Knudsen

60056-2558
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jessica Whitfield

64063
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michele Paxson

11554-4250
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Backhanded and unAmerican. I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ronald Miron-Alimpich

48362
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Edward North

94301
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Chu

94061
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Suzanne M.

66047-9201
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Craig Benkman

82070
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lindsay Hoyt

12412-5214
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Andrew Jones

49829
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Karen Kindel

44718-1123
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Margaret Kohrig

62801-3768
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Osama Al-Masri

02446-4654
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Loren Tyson

22015
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Russell Kania

33160-4747
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Natasha Wallschlaeger

54474-1607
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Dean

80202-1432
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Macrina Rodriguez

95835-2059
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cynthia Wyatt

97089-8663
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Clair Zech

60046-9219
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Kleinberg

11364
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Stickney

94941-1550
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gina Mancuso

80027
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

The Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country is an obvious ploy to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I am pleased that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, all mail-in voting, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not be intimidated by this Commission and I will work to protect the voting rights of any other eligible American.

Sincerely,

Judith Davis

97034
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

J. Belcastro

11001
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Diane Calkins

19131-1213
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marshall Card

50014
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Wigdor

02072-4908
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carole McKinzie

55110-4152
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marc Zimmerman

01749-1633
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Larry Lewis

34787-4824
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jean Pirih

21401
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary O'Neil

60640-1601
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kelley Keisch

63379-3968
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gavin Bornholtz

48439-9488
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Katherine Doyle

55803-2216
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Grace Padelford

98034-9603
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Westring

53703-6001
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Burns

73162
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Martha Smith

34286
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

gary bushey

03872
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Angie Dixon

98236-9622
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Rather than snooping on all the states voter registration lists, why not work to make it easier for all voters to vote, e.g. more equitable distribution of voting machines, more hours for early voting.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

Sincerely,

Jerry Berkman

94705
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Anita Brandariz

11201-4506
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

George Gavaras

07764-1425
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rich Holmer

95486
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dale Janssen

60491-6102
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Fox

90230-6852
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pilar Hattori

92845-2400
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laraine Turner

64152
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

You do not need to fix what is not broken.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Let candidates win on merit, not on unconstitutional chicanery.

Sincerely,

Leonscott Anonymous

23462
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carmen Blakely

33559-6734
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barb Draper

66203-2747
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jerry Townsend

95695-3624
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gail Mitchell

94949
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Truey Mackaman

43081-6018
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jack Mcguire

44012-1507
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dee Warenycia

95661-7303
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Rather than snooping on all the states voter registration lists, why not work to make it easier for all voters to vote, e.g. more equitable distribution of voting machines, more hours for early voting.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

Sincerely,

Jerry Berkman

94705
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marcia Denberg

60035-3455
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Deanna Fredson

95437-5550
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans. Another great step is vote by mail as we do successfully in Oregon.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Ardner

97080-9477
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Nierenberg

07666-3024
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Beth Utton

80501-1332
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joan Kass

10605
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carmine Tocci

01886-0018
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael McCartin

46804-4771
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marylouise Johnson

90406-2024
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Thomas Re'

01034-9701
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Lamers

32163-2902
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bob POsdal

60188
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Beverly Cox

46205
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lee Pershan

10009-5026
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Wendy Stevens

28214-8842
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dave Carpenter

14712-9513
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Gieser

98117-4420
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Steven Rosenbaum M.D.

07039-4617
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ken Mauney

27703-5608
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Wendy Oei

95125
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. It is an insult to all of us.

And attempting to create a concentrated nationwide data base, apparently to be kept in the White House, is fool hardy to say the least. It would be an inviting target for hackers of all types with different goals.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Peter Schultz

60516
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Blankenship

52556-0030
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Cloonan

93001-5066
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Melicent D'Amore

87508
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Campbell

20716
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Olenjack

63109
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kate Goetz

60645-4307
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. It is an insult to all of us.

And attempting to create a concentrated nationwide data base, apparently to be kept in the White House, is fool hardy to say the least. It would be an inviting target for hackers of all types with different goals.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Peter Schultz

60516
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Tyler

36832
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mr. Leslie Kistler

46545-3338
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

K. Castelluccio

60185-3718
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary List

49006
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Phil Lilienthal

20190-4433
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Quick

87413-5855
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kellie Swigger

91360-1507
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Raquel Quintana

33068-4256
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Taylor Smith

11566
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda A. Heath

44044-9735
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joan Svenson

12603-4128
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Arthur Schurr

11201-6412
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dorothy Del Rose

32128-7270
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Charles Weber

92056-3933
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

You do not need to fix what is not broken.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Let candidates win on merit, not on unconstitutional chicanery.

Sincerely,

Leon Scott

23462
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Edna Gruvman

11746-6646
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Werner

55112-4352
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul T

12575
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Derek Ray

92009
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Cline

80123-7835
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Martha Gillis
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leila Sen

94123
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ellen Cull

20018
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janlee Myers

46825
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Katherin Balles

98310-4518
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

PAULA UCHEE

48103
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rebecca Clark

97203-4418
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Hollingshead

85701-8256
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ingrid Barry

01923-1662
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kent Lennox

94134-2457
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Genevieve Miller

22180-7083
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cris G

20152
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judith Friend

97202
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Karyn Posella

77386-2567
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra McGovern

14424-1146
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Beverley Patrick

13207-1319
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Sells

02747
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tavia Caldwell

36460
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Betty Miller

89521-4159
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joanne Day

78749
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sharon Wiesler

44138-2564
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Karen Linn

43082-1011
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marsha Kearney

87114-6504
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Roberta Allen

35217
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Beth Gutwin

05495-9764
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janice Songini

30720
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Theresa Hadden-Martinez

87043
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kim D

65202-2912
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carolyne Turk

55424
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judy Halprin

48322
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bob Yarger

12831-1386
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Debbie Bahr

50014
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jim Mann

68507-3381
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joyce Haskins

48428-9309
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Roberta Finke

10001-5731
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Douglas Allen

97215-1715
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Karen Law

54956-4722
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ivan Horn

62298
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Mannett

02180-1011
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Hammer

01854
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laura Pakaln

10960-2101
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alexandra Tumarkin

10605-1119
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mark Roeder

47408-4391
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laraine Turner

64152
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Franks

72956-2835
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rita Garvey

33756-4524
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Per Wiger

88001-3990
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

C Archer Woodward

06098-2821
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

charles lachman

12571
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laurence Hiner

44024-8203
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Angela Hunnicutt

46032
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Davidson

78731
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Doris Wallace

28681
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alex Pohl

11001-2762
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sue Christiansen

52246-2261
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Wiley

44240-2964
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Black

96753-5524
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kyle Peterson

48313-5436
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Weill

80528-7092
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Clifford Smith

33634-1023
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robin Frazier

06266
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Arthur Leibowitz

10579-1314
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gary+Claudia Battin

98501
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast—not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mimi Hodsoll

22043-3213
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

P.P. Soucek

91401-5625
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Terry Figone

94952
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Corrina Ontiveros

85745
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote. The Trump/Pence administration is nothing short of being un-American.

Sincerely,

Carol Young

27713
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lisa McKillop

20777-9526
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

And it looks like most states aren't nearly as stupid as Trump and his idiotic gang thinks they are.

Sincerely,

Christopher Kirchwey

02139-3168
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alice Fay

97219
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Levenstien

08807
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nannette Miller

95688-4441
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Shary B

98101-1075
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote. Been watching a documentary on our Civil War. Doesn't seem like much has changed. What is it you want to achieve by making it more difficult to vote?

Sincerely,

Mary Fieni

19703-1960
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Loretta Lockett

80302
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Connie Sayler

97005-0973
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Jay

34654-1643
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Gitschier

02762-1712
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Vigil

85755-9119
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lily Mejia

92543-8820
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul O'Brien

21214-1656
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Bayln

27707
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mike Weber

75657
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Seth Picker

95619-1252
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dylan Dyer

45735-9510
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Mooney

86004
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Perez

94025-2811
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Amanda Fisher

43026-7629
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Cuene

77036
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Parish

98008
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Charlotte Sutherland

98007-6801
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eileen Brooking

10509
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia White

87102-2614
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Maye Thompson

97215
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leslie Ann Rodarte

94597-1904
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Yarish

60630-2633
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

By the way, you all are going to go down on the wrong side of history. I plan on spending my retirement reading books about your bad behavior.

Sincerely,

Caitlin Moore

10011-2033
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Dryden

02130-4289
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Christopher Ecker

20886-4264
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Frank Belcastro

52001-6327
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Erica Cuevas

33610
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marshall Conklin

17745-1639
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vicki Paulus

94928
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joyce Wenrick

16505
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Itai Maytal

07646
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gina Gatto

94546-2731
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Almaguer

93230-7421
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eila Kokkinen

12477-3570
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Estrada

32817
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Deborah Schwartz

10003
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

C Y

95129
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara B. Mckethan

20743
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Hillery Earl

76058-5536
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gilbert Canary

91784
From: Common Cause on behalf of Myrna Felix
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 9:23:39 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Myrna Felix

62702-2445
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Henry Sanchez

93023-9514
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Virginia Dodge

32792-2595
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Amodeo

12208
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leo Kucewicz

19460-5922
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leslie DeBrock

98226-9582
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Glenn Lambert

45503-2810
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Theresa Medige

14216-2508
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Anthony-Bogue

06777-1812
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Swett

28711-3119
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Christine Stewart

92026-1461
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Liz Crane

02109-1904
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marina Samaltanos

90036-4638
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janice Palmrose

97210
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Fleet Van Riper

21217-4316
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Randall Rose

80223
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jerry Sattler

11235-5961
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tom Dinicola

44319-2387
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

I am not one of the fools that voted for tRump. Those of us with brains know what you are trying to do--which is cheat as Republicans have to do in order to win elections. Your ideas are worthless and you have no morals or integrity. It is so obvious that you have zero ability to govern. You will soon be relegated to the dust bin of history.

Sincerely,

Lawrence Scaduto

34667-3018
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michelle Mondragon

32701-2703
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

CHARLES MINOR

15484
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susanna Pancaldo

11201
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Debbi Pratt

98199-2110
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ann Cockrell

80110-3555
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Lorand

48858-4144
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Whitney Myers

76110
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Brown

51111
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

sharon conova

05701
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Alice Lo Cicero

48126-1932
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

M'Liss Willmann

78759-4930
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Vassar

23462-4109
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

O. Stryker

32606-5962
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kayla Tipton

48820
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Aylen

98021-7317
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathy Tolman

80033-3546
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

I will only allow you to see my voting information when Pres Trump releases his tax returns as he has promised to do.

Sincerely,

George Fuller

98023-3220
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nonna Noto

20009-2019
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brian Dawson

92612-2621
From: Common Cause on behalf of Jeannine Wright
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 9:23:32 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I’m deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I’m glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeannine Wright

29801
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Virginia Dodge

32792
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Chuck Leingang

55330
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Tornatore

12590
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brian Bogdanski

21136
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sharon Rubenstein

95249-9500
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dorothy Smith

37042-5755
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cary Appenzeller

11215-4544
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Enough of this phony commission.

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Paul

95380
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lyn Watner

21218
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Howard McBroom

91502
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Priscilla Mitchell

45013-3201
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey King

19475-9623
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

This commission has nothing to do with voter fraud. You already know that there is no data to support this at all. It is clear that your goal is collect information you have no right to so you can proceed with massive voter intimidation and disenrollment based on flimsy and inaccurate criteria. Your actions are unconscionable. I urge every state to refuse to provide any data to you at all. You are dishonest in your intent, to the extreme. Damn you! I hope the courts can protect us from your efforts to effect a coup from within.

Sincerely,

Dean Carr

98144-2809
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Beverly Garcia

73072-5729
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lauren Reiter

04616
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

S. L. Yurick

16335-2457
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Courtney Laves

44004-3642
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lauren Blanton

77009-7612
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

My husband and I are deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission’s recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

WE are glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and we want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and we know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. WE will not let this Commission intimidate us or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

IT IS THE RIGHT, FAIR, JUST, HUMANE AND HEALTHY ACTION NOT TO BE INTIMATED BY THIS VOTER SUPPRESSION COMMISSION!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Sincerely,

Mary Ann and Frank Graffagnino

85747-5171
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Donna Mae Mroczynski

54162-8823
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kurt Leeb

11793
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joseph Truhon

10984-1617
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carla S

20772
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

K Danowski

15228-1437
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

H.M. Millard

97308
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Viacrucis

56560-5225
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carl Prellwitz

03820-5018
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Luanne Epstein

49512-2963
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ann Westim

32162
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Julie Robinson

02575-1198
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Pigg

94564-1829
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mariah Commodore

70364
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Len Raminski

60525-1811
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Vile

60062-7808
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Gagnon

03102-2932
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

The Pence-Kobach commission's request for private information about every voter in the country are of grave concern.

I applaud state election officials who have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters.

The American people will NOT be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Peter Mc Knight

12449
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Ellen Rivero

86305-2209
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Sefton

53517-9668
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

judi burbes

22932
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Leonard

33903-4339
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Pearce

37027-4305
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Daniel DeVito

22003
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alexandra Tumarkin

10605-1119
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Sefton

53517-9668
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Dear Members of the Voter's Commission:

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ann Lindenbaum
370 East 76 Street, Apt. A-902
NY, NY 10021
annmara66@aol.com

Sincerely,

Ann Lindenbaum

10021
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dee Gee

90028
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Trisha Ten Broeke

97206-5426
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Virginia Jastromb

01060-1734
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Beth Darlington

12604-0001
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jay Schelman

60660-5852
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Justina Gruling

54403
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jo Ann Kreider

61548-8582
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ann V Gordon

22101
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Lee

60543-4080
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Larry Shepler

54703-6869
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bonnie Miskolczy

01741-0006
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jane Shabtaie

53717-1182
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ella Forbes

97230-6228
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vicky Putsche

80205
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sheryl Davis

61104-1234
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gerritt and Elizabeth Baker-Smith

18301
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

As a University student, before my marriage my name was Carolyn Smith. I lived in a dorm with 65 other women. There was another Carolyn Smith and two Carol Smiths. If there can be name duplication in such a small sample, as a mathematician I can say with confidence that there are likely to be thousands more Carolyn Smiths in the United States. The practice of cross-check will clearly disenfranchise many people they way it is set up. Congress should outlaw the attack on the voting rights of many. Even uncommon names can be honestly duplicated.

I actually know a Clarence Thomas who lives in the San Francisco area -- former president of the Local 10 of the Longshoremans Union. I also know a woman named Pat Buchanan who lives in this area. And those are not common names like Smith, Lee, Johnson, Brown etc.

So please stamp out crosscheck.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Scarr
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Dryer

20016-2748
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lauren Thompson

97045-4215
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

barbara stamp

55378
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Peter Nixon

33187-5234
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Christi Price

85226
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandy Esque

92672-5015
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dan W

14467
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pablo Moreno

28760
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Singer Meis

91403-1275
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lucia Ferland

03582-4305
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Schleyer

41073
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Margit Meissner-Jackson

08092-9744
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jessica Rodrigues

02889
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Willard Richards

95404-2231
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Berger

75025-3629
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sue Berlant

95603
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Alison

02155-6102
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Catherine Fairbanks

90016
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Louis Vuilleumier

02637
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Walter Schmitt

61115-1542
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Parrett

32118
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Monica Demertsidis

32034-5624
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Beverly McFarland

97330
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We the People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laurie Sandretto

14068
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Desiree Reynolds

46994
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Lane

99354
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

C. Kasey

23116-2781
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Polly Stonier

97535-6627
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pam Tallman

30236-5141
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sean Mooney

06093-2103
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lana Schmitt

61115-1542
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions, and again assault our privacy rights.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote. We know that there has been no voter fraud - on the part of voters, although we know voting machines can been manipulated.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans. (And gerrymandering MUST stop. Talk about voter suppression.)

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

S.M. Di Paola

98110-4002
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lynne Hyman

10023
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Goldstein

08550
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans. We also need a paper trail for every ballot.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kata Orndorff

85716-1268
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lana Bobak

48306-4028
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joan Mari Neville

95008
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathie Snavely

17368-9066
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Bishop

55129-9223
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Van Den Heuvel

08648-4119
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeanne Tweedy

02780-2504
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leslie Meehan

98225-1840
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kay Carey

97008-7800
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Don Noel

06112-1837
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Heidi Handsaker

59102-3350
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Novick

10024-3606
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Jeffries

66210
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bonnie Long

90803-8608
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kimberly pultz

53963-2248
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ana Cristina Vidal

30088
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nick Justiz

11568-1302
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Proietta

19111-3423
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Hewes

76110
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marie Schneider

44135
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kay Willens

94619-3204
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barb S.

98077
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judd Williams

94941-2153
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ken Steinman

98422-1401
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nathan Roll

97217-3038
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Walter

49696-9407
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Charlotte Williams

94515-1134
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vicki Hughes

92649-3132
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kara Powers

97405
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Clapp

02645-1132
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alfonzo Jordan

37216-3627
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Chimera

34145-4686
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Margaret Rich

20746-1435
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Amanda Tenney

90016-4535
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gay Ferguson

02115-6124
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cecile Keeper

77098
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Birch

06488-1467
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Vasser

95945-1485
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jan Steckel

94619
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Peter Townsend

01721-2158
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Yonda

13901
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Moon

89441
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

nan sersig

44287
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Melissa Harris

37215-1521
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Scott Crockett

97439-0033
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ann Gerlock
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mark Whitney

95062
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Rose

80205-4448
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Rodriguez

78245
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Nelson

48820-9541
From: Common Cause on behalf of Halie Hennessey
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 8:53:39 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Halie Hennessey

08204-4718
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rachel Krucoff

60615-5484
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Gallagher
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I am sickened by the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private voter information.

I agree with California's Secretary of State Alex Padilla: "California's participation would only serve to legitimize the false and already debunked claims of massive voter fraud."

This is filthy politics at its worst, aimed at undermining the power of the electorate and this democracy.

I'm glad to see the states' refusal to allow such hubris and abuse of power.

Sincerely,

Barbara Adams

94550-4519
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eleanor Chan

95014
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jim Scott

87513
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Peter Franklin Davis

01301-2350
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Hia Rubenstein

37215-6102
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Yeager

33470
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Siems

80421-0436
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Daniel DeVito

22003
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote. I know an "enemies list" when I see one, and I'm proud to be on it.

Sincerely,

j hester

95030-7063
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Darcey

06107-3703
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patrick Williamson

25705-2431
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Prudencio Aguilar

76028
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Noah Youngelson

90066-4134
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bobbie Upson

92057-7724
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Debra Meltzer
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joanne Yates

66203
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

DJ Martinez

80229
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Marble

94605
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Enid Engler

12836
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Evelyn Hao

96815-1727
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janice Dlugosz

08722
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ayesha Vavrek

94704-2962
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sabine Blohm

11743-3677
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Annie O'Neill

49621-0046
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Regina Reynolds

28082
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leslie Campbell

13802
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marc Hamelin

02452
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Melody Grigg

93455-3129
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tony Prescimone

21234-4512
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

We already have too many barriers to voting. To have election integrity, every citizen over 18 must be able to cast a vote that is correctly counted. We are far from that right now. We must encourage voter turnout and have a paper trail of all votes.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Theo Giesy

23061-3948
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Milo Angel

91906
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marx Andrews

30087-4426
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeremy Lyons

90046-5934
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nelson Stockdill

48198
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bruce Sadowskas

19606-9066
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Fink

49024-5628
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Karen Kremer

13320-3020
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Orner Edith

97322-7257
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Stephen Ferry

93111-1042
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lawrence Walker

02339-1516
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Shayla Kasel

93065-6772
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Snider

80027-1818
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Karen Rogers

49454
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Angela Mastaloudis

84117-6410
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Stokes

86326
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Debra Schlegel

12533-3108
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Davian Rawls

04103-3122
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jill Mistretta

94904-1501
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Welshons

85015-1723
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alan R. Marks

98052
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Marble

48892-5115
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brenda H. Scott

30310-4933
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ronald Gardner

21152
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Andrea Fulcher Bleahen

94303
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rosa Jordan-Guzman

83855
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gary Thaler

02151-4112
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Taylor

04730-0334
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeff Streed

22302
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Diana Brunswig-Bosso

63010-3020
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ann Gillespie

08106-1537
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Steve Kossack

89149-0223
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joann Ramos

08830-1445
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

edward union

48111
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bruce Waterman

94609-3521
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vanna Cleary

17815-8801
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Karen Ecklund

03284-2397
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Charles Blair

93436-1206
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brett Douglass

99208
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Emily Stutz

06824
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Cloud

85704
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Lane

94591-4044
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marsha Stlouis

98031-2650
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jesse Rosemoore

94710
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Szymanski

53212-2619
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Melissa Craig

98512-6010
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jean Morse

89511-5082
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

T Logan

78701-3214
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David J Stepney Jr

08618
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeff Kulp

27612
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Wilfred Norris

16652
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Lou O'Connell

15001
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susie Navarijo

78228
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

john matuszewski

20132
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Bateman

97006-7668
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marvin Patnode

13090-1805
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David J Stepney Jr

08618
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Terri Tylo

06851-3701
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janice Pardoe

94705-1833
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jan Churchwell

60093-3328
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Frank Portolano

07005-9732
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marie Demarais

08865-1358
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jon Zehner

53072
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Ryce

27949-4344
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kara Mccoll

42071
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Benioff

94710-1718
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Eckstein

07874-2433
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

G. Mathey

66101-3843
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dennie Mehocich

94901
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidentional Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Simone Pisias

95460-1418
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

perry chapdelaine

37015
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

The American people are smarter than you think. We will fight for the right of EVERY citizen to vote. I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laura Prickett

94705
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gail joyiens-salam

07065-3932
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Rodrigues

92040-2114
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Porter

83001-8984
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Newton

81623-2133
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alexa Kelly

10001-2505
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Tomlinson

78630-0520
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dolph Williams

60025-4455
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast — not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mike Saville

83250-4704
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Thomas Windberg

78745-1633
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alex Alford

32812
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Bock

98074
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Stockmeyer

80218
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Chris Francisco

94930-2134
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

MARIANNE SECK

10027
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carla Cherry

10019-3953
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jon Wesick

01801-6903
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dan Hubbard

03867-4244
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Whipps

54403-3385
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cullen Philippson

98686
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

President Trump is promoting the falsehood of voter fraud to explain his loss of the popular vote in the 2016 election, but his insecurity masks a more insidious agenda to take away voting rights from American citizens and put elections in the control of the wealthiest few.

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carla Cox

95776
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

George Harman

24301
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Anthony Buda

02128
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Shirley Drake Byers

12025-7722
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Philly Meyers

31419
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Diane Barry

06417
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jane Garrett

05753-5600
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Teresa Miller

94609-3521
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Maria Candelaria

87124-2150
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bob Haslag

65023-3223
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sharon Bender-Mccorkle

48326-3058
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

linda thompson

77074
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judith Morris

06810
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Jo Provenzano

22124
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Arthur Gregorian

94602
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

JEFFREY APPLEGATE

10003
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eli White

94110
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Black

34219-7535
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Katie Aiken

45710-7504
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rachel Saxon

46360-1828
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Walter Ziegenhals

27215-9732
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Moore

94937
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Danny M.

07604
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Maeve Murphy

94901-4372
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elijah Wade

63701
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I am also fearful that this national data base will become an invasion of privacy and threaten the civil liberties of individuals.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

Instead of launching an intimidating investigation based on myth and non-existent data, I urge the commission to promote voting and to expand, not constrict, voter rolls.

Sincerely,

Steve Longenecker

22801
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Wiseman

63129
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ben Flint

94611-5860
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alexis Klemm

61103-4323
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Clark Dodge

96756
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lynn Anderson

60563-3302
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

john massarello

60515-1741
From: Common Cause on behalf of Mary Peterson
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 8:43:12 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Peterson

97365-9605
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Margo Salone

39360-9201
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Sarovec

11779-1612
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

melanie moore

60628
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Peters

94901-5232
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Graciela Alderette

93726-4447
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Hayes

67208-2722
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Andrew PHILPOT

93463-2784
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dianne Douglas

85042-7082
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

Our government should be doing everything it can to encourage voting, not putting up barriers to prevent participation and demanding personal information in an attempt to make people afraid of going to the polls.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marilee Meyer

98363-8800
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elisabeth Price

87110-3311
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jean Standish

10003-8759
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Whitehead

31909
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mercedes Armillas

11216-3624
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susie Navarijo

78228
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lynda Leigh

95062-5533
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Jo Wilkins

99337
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jessiah Yoder

80021
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pedro Hernandez

39211
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Donna May

33852
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

When I go into the voting booth I want to be able to vote freely and privately without any outside interference such as the Pence-Kobach commission proposes. This erodes our democracy and has the fingerprints of dictatorship.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Celia Cordero

45240-2127
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

barbara svetkovich

49411
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marie Klimchuk

24523
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Melissa Leatherman

20171
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Delores Smith

28215
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carl Vogel

40502-1408
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Helm

97203-2001
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cynthia Anderson

90247
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Mcnally

91350-2515
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Gingg

95472
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Wood

86305
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Catherine Davis

21050-1633
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Delores Smith

28215
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

lois Howlett

04096
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Fred Martin

28208-4554
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Roseanne Hartman

74114-3706
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Howard Donaghy

98366
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gertrude Odom

34638
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

joanne classick

46254
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Len Farr

91356-4105
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lisa Nersessian

20794-8924
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Taylor

80113-9235
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Monica Leverett

01062-1049
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lois Kalish

60089-6702
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Esther Massimini

85028
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Cummiskey

63005-4869
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Fiona Priskich

90210
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Nierstedt

07027-1447
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lesley Forrester

15148-1024
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Serge Belozerov

01602-1030
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ben Goodin

97739
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Donald Miller

80014-6134
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Angel Olivier

66226
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rev CD Haun

80908
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rich & Jane Schweinsburg

02816-5775
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janet Dersey

48170
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ann Moore

30002-1776
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sue Camden-Lee

28139
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Merle Teetzen

55442
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leigh Ann Dicarlo

92596-8506
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Louis

11435
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Cook

28460
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Laura Horowitz

15217-1840
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Kemper

11520-2750
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Cano

33174-3918
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Philips

05055
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Connors

02893
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Quick

17036-0163
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

RI Thomson

96795-1352
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Gage

19518-9577
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bernice Reinharth

11554-2201
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Angela Dzikoski

85614
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eric Lopresti

60532-2447
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carl Silverman

53711-3558
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Steffen

93063-4807
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Yola Hesser

97439-8658
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cristina Amarillas

95404-3473
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jim McElroy

78757-2538
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mickey Mccarthy

94114
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gregory Duncan

46804-6539
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Walter Kortge

97058-8503
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Voter fraud is NOT a significant problem in our country. Studies shown that the incidence of voter fraud is minuscule. The REAL problem is voter suppression. We need to be expanding the ability of our citizens to participate in our democracy, not restricting participation.

Please use your skills and resources in ways that will strengthen our democracy. Please work on ways to modernize elections by allowing things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting.

Stop wasting time and energy on the non-issue of voter fraud and instead focus on engaging citizens in participation in our great democracy.

Sincerely,

Wendy Greenspan

07076-2316
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Keith Johnson

53573-9496
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

J. Nichols

98290
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

joe e crum

41224-8585
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

There is NO WAY I will agree to the release of my information, and if it is released I will do everything in my power to defeat the reelection of anyone who voted to release it. Among other things, the creation of a single unified list of voter information makes it much more susceptible to hacking by a foreign power. Moreover, your commission is a sham. The claims of voter fraud are greatly exaggerated, and the recent trend toward passage of laws excluding voters is alarming.

Sincerely,

Gene Hanson

27514-7506
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Kennedy

47711-5751
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Stutzman

22003
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Edward Schortman

43022
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brandon Morrow

17540-1943
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

 Jul 9, 2017

 Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

 Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

 I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

 I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

 The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

 The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

 Sincerely,

 Mary Putterman

 06517-1327
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Lion-Storm

94597
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mike Mutchler

17551-9603
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leanora Winters

20736-8852
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jane Parker

21117-0329
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Angie Maniaci

14020
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Herman Whiterabbit

53713-2620
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alan Podber

05302-1902
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tymekia Scott

71301-2677
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Peter Moon

06231
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Toni Caldwell-Clark

66103-2947
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nell Valentine

40511
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Angela Armstrong

98312-8804
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ken Humke

97215-2912
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jim Bongarden

56097-1728
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Walter Thode

83703-3401
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Karen Jacques

95811
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Diane Roland

36618
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Taber

94114-2142
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tamara Underwood

10510
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Lion-Storm

94597
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Ward

10538
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janet Torres

91403-5020
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sean Forner

48912-2217
Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Marshall

07081-1124
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Rees

80228-2900
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joanne Shap

32034
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michelle Reitmayer

92544-5616
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mark Taylor

28270-1737
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judith Battaglia

19002-2509
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Daley

11377-5620
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Colleen Bland

30034-3331
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Adrian Bergeron

97834
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

R. Galvez

90048-1403
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tina Marino

85032-7629
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

P.J. Keenan

19975-4377
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gail Melhado

33180
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Amalia Torres

03818-7331
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kim Zylla

14424
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janet Kuncl

62234-4918
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Termini

32952-4136
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

V Evan

60660-3490
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeanne Moenk

44024-9337
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Roberta Eisenhart

14051
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ann Mcclanahan

83706-5210
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barry Weinzveg

94952-9735
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jan Jennings

34761-3719
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Donald Betts

92057
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ron Kamp

60025
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Terry Hamilton

35223
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

ROBERT BALL

99206
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ed Dierking

60540-4831
From: Common Cause on behalf of Sarah Nehama
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 8:13:16 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sarah Nehama

02906-3737
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeff Johnson

48161-3861
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jacklyn Yancy

93610-2404
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

William Fields

63031
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Bruder

11771-2409
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Betty Shelley

97219-4512
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Connie Kelly

02536
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sharyn Dreyer

80206-2913
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Shannon Kralovic

12190
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ann Remkus

49221-1755
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Proper

85737-6762
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Agostinho

10923-1428
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Fran Demillion

19348-2592
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Mcnally-Brinkley

60110-1505
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Erma Lewis

11204-2801
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cristina Amarillas

95404-3473
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Otto Lehrbach

18011-2035
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Irving Lee

10002-6761
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Hackman

01730-1350
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joseph Ginger

61032-6151
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brandon Morrow

17540-1943
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Stern

10023-2504
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

A R Warren

92264-7795
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Downing

50313-4160
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Loretta Meyers

60091-3075
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Penelope King

13806-0015
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cynthia Stout

48180-3577
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lucia Hall

92117-1640
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sharen Greth

18074-9565
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Fred Tashima

90066-4914
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Fairfield

95407
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

joe e crum

41224-8585
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Zellmann

91941-4158
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alexandra Hare

97070
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lenore Dowling

90039-3049
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Melvin Taff

62704-3216
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Strasser

44145-2127
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elaine Bernarding

80120-4146
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brian Keves

85383-9675
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Stop the insanity you are on a witch hunt BUT too many of US-A are not afraid to stand up to make you stand down.

Sincerely,

CJ Johnson

30281-5870
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Holly Pope

78748
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sarah B Stewart

02472-4914
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vicki Linkin

89123-0146
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Trump is an ignorant jackass!

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Glenn Novak

08527-4418
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

James Victorine

10025
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marion Bullington

96754
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michelle Buerger

53562-3592
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Heintz

85248-6176
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mike Mutchler

17551-9603
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael von Sacher-Masoch

98206
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nora Lewis

93444
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Maureen Wheeler

20901
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Briar Winters

10002-2454
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lori Stefano

98597-9086
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

J. Badger

32258
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Amy Ellison

94702-1369
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

S Smith

92879
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Peggy Ray

27705-5649
From: Common Cause on behalf of Aleasa Crary
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 8:13:09 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Aleasa Crary

53589
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Hall

92117-4943
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

jim wait

28694
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

B.J. Sucidlo

33411-6318
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Anne Gross

95351-4920
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

The proper course of action in the USA today is voting encouragement, to raise the percentage of citizen turnout both of new and existing registrants. Statistically speaking, the problem you perceive is negligible and insignificant. Your commission is a solution in search of a problem.

Your purpose is transparent. It is to suppress the vote, of which no American should be proud, and the targets of your efforts are those of lesser privilege, whom you identify as likely Democratic supporters. Your purposes are ignoble, and we see what you are doing. You should be deeply ashamed of yourselves.

Sincerely,

Shearle Furnish

44406-9762
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote. Instead of wasting our tax payer money on your scam, let's get a Commission on Republican Gerrymandering that the courts have found discriminatory to minority voters. As a Vietnam Era Veteran, I served with many others to protect our right to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Tucker

32244
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Steffen

93063-4807
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

George Chaloner

98024
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Love

27314
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jerome Blackburn

72212
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Michael Ott

33043-4900
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Larry Scheiman

46804
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Muhle

52240-2516
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

We need more people voting, not fewer.
Your commission is an attempt to suppress Democratic voters.

Sincerely,

Paul Antonucci

01730
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Catherine McColl

36853
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Molly Buttner

79925
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

LeAnn Drumm

66226
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Geist

80504
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Victor Vuyas

94109-2704
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

ofelia garcia

88005
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jason Husby

55412-2651
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joseph Herten

48128
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert L. Keith

93555-3639
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

The president has no right, no authority, no business on the planet demanding to inspect my voting history! Trump's fake "Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity -- devised to promote his "voter fraud" fraud and subvert and suppress our voting rights -- must be put out of business now!

All state election authorities must firmly refuse the president's illegal demand for voting records. Otherwise, the American people en masse will be bearing down on you under our 1st Amendment right to petition the government for redress of grievances.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Calder

86301-5612
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Melody Fiore

10962-0066
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gina Cantres

12721
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Agustin Atherley

30260
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janine Gibbons

02563
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Irene Lutz

91351-1168
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pamela Parks

20010
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nan Rush

87112
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Workman
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm delighted I live in California, a state that will not give in to Trump and his increasingly anti-democracy stand. I am concerned that whatever it is that has him siding with Putin against US interests could put the voter information in Putin's hands which does not bode well for our future elections.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Penny Luce

93111
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Kristoffersen

53125
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nick Meek

85712-1360
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

A J Hanson

97401-1108
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alice C Kearns

06480
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mark Joy

98223-7343
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Fisher

06614-4506
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Paul Kristoffersen

53125
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Josephine Scherer

87107-4513
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vincent Lyman

21212-3938
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy L. Roll

68434-2824
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Seraluna Sanchez

76259
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. Frankly, even if it has the best of intentions it is an inappropriate attempt by the federal government to interfere in state-controlled elections.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote. I will be letting my secretary of state and division of elections that they should not be sharing ANY information with the federal government, particularly not in any favored way.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote, nor our state governments into giving access to private information or even public information in any preferential manner.

Sincerely,

Sally Jane Gellert

07677
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

mario maraldo

48045
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mark S

62568-2305
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Emily Pilc

01236
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

As a 74-year-old American citizen and life-long voter, I urge you to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

I deplore any actions that would discourage, limit, or suppress legitimate vote(r)s; you would best serve our Country by doing all you can to enlarge, not restrict, the voting electorate

Dave Henderson
Healdsburg CA 95448

Sincerely,

Dave Henderson

95818-3251
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elaina Deveaux

94534-2914
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Victoria English

19085-1201
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Suzanne Fossett

07040-2629
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Charland

95815-3119
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Steven Cuccaro

21054-1433
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Ginzburg

11201-7803
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert Edwards

18702-1510
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Irmgard Cooper

49441
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Modrok

80909
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cecilia Ansel

89511-8148
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leah Hallow

12065
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

I am an American and I vote. I have always voted since I was 21. I just missed the voting at 18 law. Our nation is stronger when we all feel part of it and voting is a very important way to feel part of it. I help our newest citizens with voting and I always will.

Sincerely,

Mary Mcdermith

94040-4556
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Randy Sykes

06092-2510
From: Common Cause on behalf of David Pebra
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 7:53:25 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Pebra

90503-1205
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Edouard Dawson

81007-7547
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rita Kotak

07307
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Catherine Goldman

14209-1858
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Williams

11436
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Erickson

17257-8239
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast—not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Karow

95404-3035
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Chris Hall

94707-1411
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Julianne Lien

54880
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Andy Henry

88002-1073
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Daniel Brant

98368-6417
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pamela Steen
34208-1630
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cathy Elizabeth Levin

07002-3516
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Leann Turley

16878-8911
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Censorio

02703-5138
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jean Wiant

19036-1414
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Virgie Smith

92284
Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sara Dubois

98059-5185
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ellen Peterson

95670
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

The Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country is but the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attempt to decrease voter turnout. I've been voting since JFK, and I have no intention of letting any of "dismantlers" prevent me from fulfilling my obligation to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast, stop using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

Sincerely,

Robert Donnelly

88061
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kaye Walster

94089
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

WHAT IS WRONG WITH YOU? YOU ARE SUPPOSED TO BE FOR THE PEOPLE NOT AGAINST OUR DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS????.
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Chris Foglietta

93420-5205
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

dan volpatti

15241
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Samantha Eppes

33592-2137
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,
nancy starr

93940
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Doris Avery

19081
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joy Hoeft

63042-1527
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Claire Mortimer

04616
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Miller

10011
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bonnie Sabbi

19333
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Murgo

33160-2158
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

ESEQUIEL CAMPOS

78217
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Warren Darrell

20186
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

tom schwartz

91040
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Shannon Lee

10803
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Helen Jones

97520-1506
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rita Sheehan

08730-1431
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rubon Thornock

84655
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judith Rogers

75080-1413
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jacqui Goeldner

80304-2969
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gwen Smith

81505
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gary Little

52211-9545
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mikki Roth

87124-1142
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Craig Fletcher

84045
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Dobbratz

93950
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Brown

28754-8602
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Katherine Wright

97068-1651
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Wanda Jane Burlinson

27610
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ro-Jean Smith

77084-1220
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Donlon McGovern

97211-6411
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brit Pyland

94707
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Zeller

61761-2444
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dianne Harrison

70808-1214
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rosanne O'Hare

02171-2737
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dan Jarvis

93041-3227
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I’m deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I’m glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ray Bellamy

32309-3475
Jul 9, 2017

President’s Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear President’s Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I’m deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission’s recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I’m glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Wes Myres

80301-3792
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carol Dickinson

90403-4606
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Don't be Trump's idiotic pawns!!!

Sincerely,

Gloria Kim

90272-2306
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robert L. Oman

91342-1339
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Clara Jellinek

19103
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Stamp

99202-3571
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jocelyn G T Anthony

19119-3137
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jack Hardy

74361-9097
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Anne Pavlic

48167-2410
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ellen Dreyer

48336-4679
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gary Thomsen

92661-1409
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Karpiak

60559-3170
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Fernando Dillard

90501
Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lawrence O'Connor
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lisa English

48871
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Gail Padalino

12196
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara J Glass

33142-8109
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

D Bell

99037-0345
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Frueh

49829-3217
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marcia Bailey

28714
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lucille Roussin

10025-5470
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

H. Asumen

96707-1613
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Loretta Olsen

45177-9433
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ted Millar

12547-5105
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lynn Levine

55416-1976
From: Common Cause on behalf of Doreen Lebel
To: FN-OVP-Election Integrity Staff
Subject: Written Comment to Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity
Date: Sunday, July 9, 2017 7:43:13 PM

To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Doreen Lebel

06469-1039
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joe Uveges

40243
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Mccreary

95963-9714
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

D'Arcy Goodrich

68164-1781
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tom Sunlake

47408
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I’m deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission’s recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I’m glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ewell Collins

75032
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Patricia Appel

92651-2842
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joel Meza

94121-0144
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marie Koo

11373
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Holland

38571-2511
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Calder

86301-5612
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marcus Murphy

80817
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Herb Floyd

80027-9561
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Allen Mcelrath

30126-2794
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Keith Bates

29033-3414
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Styc

95825-6643
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Brodeur

18017
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

E Dobson

15201
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Kaysinger

55343-8722
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

Freedom from fear voting is one of the cornerstones of American democracy and the fight for women's ability to vote was too hard won to threaten by asking for voting information on all Americans.

Massive voter fraud has no basis in fact and I reject all attempts to use it as a smokescreen for other more relevant issues than a fake problem.

Voter suppression, however, is real. If you are serious about voting rights issues, that is what you should be focused on. Why aren't you?

Sincerely,

Ellen Fauerbach

12421-0267
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Dwyer

60142
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Edward Squibb

08609-1703
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Ng

11354-3303
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Anne Hummel

27408-6215
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ila Weiss

10025-3049
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Kelly

10940-4972
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

M. Yukimura

96766
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robin Schnell

12302
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sherry and Tom Miller

49038-9638
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Thomas Sheridan

99203-3164
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Julie Spangler

92101-2713
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Randy Herman

53716-1805
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Maynard Dieters

37127
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Milo Matthews

94122
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Eric J. Arroyo

10463-1527
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Clark

77029
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Richard Han

48103-5290
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Hugh Mcfadden

59715-5925
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sari Rose Schneider

98040-4252
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ro-Jean Smith

77084-1220
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pat D.

06880
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nora Brown

14850
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Vaughan

47404
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marguerite Love

02346
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mary Ellen Beattie

33040-3763
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Janet Farzan

90024
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marcia Bailey

28714
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Amanda McNeill

81321-3223
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Camp

91501-2637
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Julio Rodriguez

11216
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kevin Sari

41091-8729
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Martha Zimiles

12546-4445
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kim Winchell

48623-9732
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jean Wood

93010-3912
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Stephen Rhyner

54403-5040
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mario Barron

78210
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Felice Brady

10595
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Komisar

94597
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Walter Christensen

97404-4404
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Downing

92240-1136
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Victor Dejesus

11207
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Yanosik

21128-9022
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pamela Bar-El

98550
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I am deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I am glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Steven Federman

43606-2506
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Elaine Nystrom

34103-3873
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Alice Carnahan

30008
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vicki Johnson

64137
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Jeffery Bangs

34450
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

pat murphy

86326
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Joseph Balacco

17872
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mim Anzolut

10022
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carolyne Wright

98125
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Brian K Sutton

40242-3421
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Jones

03540
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Barbara Consbruck

91342-5150
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Carolynn Griffith

96825-2136
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Lucille Roussin

10025-5470
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Greg Dunnivant

23901-2932
Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Roz Budoff

80004-1658
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Dicorpo

06053-3528
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tomasz Jasinskowski

94087
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions. I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sheldon Burkhalter

98115
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

dale jerkins

44107
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Virginia Garner

48188-2074
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kay Brainerd

48111
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Betty Pellerin

71303
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

loyd manuel

71003
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sandra Feldman

21117-2330
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tom Cripps

78745-5106
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Susan Dicorpo

06053-3528
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

David Parshall

98122
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Rene Bobo

80920-6220
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Pat sax

94610-1843
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Douglas Ben

97404
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Mark Reisinger

13850-3755
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Schilling

49507
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Marylis Saltzmann

07422-0062
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

C Gerald Chetkowski

19350-9662
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Rhines

02715-0085
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Verena Possiedi

10011
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Miller

92660-3285
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Mory

18411-9437
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ruud Delana

95602-9237
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Bruce Brown

11361-1906
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ruud Delana

95602-9237
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes.

Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Linda Ronberg

94025-5914
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

judith Appleton

44074
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dolores Hines

25443-1102
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Tania Malven

85719-2441
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Allison Wright

75237-3100
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Robin Weintraub

90034-1815
I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Nancy Bucher

85637
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidental Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Ellen Dreyer

48336-4679
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Vic Paglia

12533-6450
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Betty Neuenschwander

81004-9701
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Dorothy Rocklin

02176-3723
Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Hao Le

95132-1314
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Judith Appleton

44074
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

John Dervin

32712-5839
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Russell Thorp

94949-6494
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Sue Ortiz

94070
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity

Dear Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity,

THIS COMMISSION IS A SHAM!

I'm deeply concerned that the Pence-Kobach commission's recent request for private information about every voter in the country could be the first of many attempts to push nationwide voting restrictions.

I'm glad that state election officials have put their duty to voters above this partisan attack on voters, and I want you to know that the American people will not be intimidated out of exercising our freedom to vote.

The best way to uphold the integrity of our elections is by making sure every eligible voter can vote and have their vote counted as cast -- not using false claims about illegal voting to suppress votes. Modernizing our elections to allow things like automatic voter registration, Election Day voter registration, and early voting are important steps to lowering the barriers to participation for all Americans.

The freedom to vote is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I know that We The People will do whatever it takes, together, to protect it. I will not let this Commission intimidate me or any other eligible American from exercising the freedom to vote.

Sincerely,

Cynthia Young

15044
To contact this constituent by email, please reply to this message.

Jul 9, 2017

