Statement from OMB Director Shalanda Young

Budgetary Impact Analysis for Executive Order Entitled “Imposing Certain Sanctions on Persons Undermining Peace, Security, and Stability in the West Bank”

This executive order would declare a national emergency to deal with the threat to the national security and foreign policy of the United States posed by the situation in the West Bank, including high levels of extremist settler violence, forced displacement of people and villages, and property destruction in the West Bank. Implementing this executive order would have de minimis impact on costs and revenues to the Federal Government. The benefits of this executive order include authorizing sanctions against those responsible for the threat described above. Implementing this executive order would have de minimis impact on mandatory and discretionary obligations and outlays, as well as on revenues to the Federal Government, in the 5-year fiscal period beginning in fiscal year 2024. The agencies anticipated to be impacted by this executive order include the Departments of Homeland Security, State, and the Treasury.
