PUBLIC BUDGET DATABASE USER'S GUIDE

Budget of the United States Government for Fiscal Year 2027

This document describes three data files that contain an extract of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) budget database. These files can be used to reproduce many of the totals published in the Budget and examine unpublished details below the levels of aggregation published in the Budget. These data, however, have some limitation to their scope and usefulness.

The following sections describe the sources and limitations of the data, as well as the content, format, and coding of the data files.

1. Data sources and limitations

a. Sources of data

Historical data for completed fiscal years are summarized from the financial records of the U.S. Government maintained by OMB and the Department of the Treasury (Treasury). The totals are generally consistent with data published in the Monthly Treasury Statement by the Treasury Fiscal Service. Differences between the Treasury publications and the Budget arise from a small number of reporting and classification corrections made subsequent to the Treasury publications and some conceptual differences between OMB and Treasury reporting.

In addition, these historical records are adjusted each year to conform to the agency and account structure of the current budget. For example, data originally reported in the 1966 Budget by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, now appear under the Department of Health and Human Services, the Department of Education, or the Social Security Administration, as appropriate. However, for technical reasons, the Department of War is referred to as the Department of Defense. The historical database has also been updated for changes in the functional classification of accounts and in the Budget Enforcement Act (BEA) categorization.

Budget estimates for the current fiscal year (2026), the budget year (2027), and each subsequent year are prepared by agencies, based on the definitions and guidance contained in OMB Circular A-11, "Preparation, Submission, and Execution of the Budget." Budget totals for these years reflect the President's fiscal policy and economic assumptions, which are extensively described in the Budget documents.

b. Fiscal years

The data in these files are for fiscal years. Prior to 1977, the fiscal year began on July 1 and ended on June 30. For example, fiscal year 1965 began on July 1, 1964, and ended on June 30, 1965. Beginning with fiscal year 1977, the fiscal year begins on October 1 and ends on September 30. For example, fiscal year 2025 began on October 1, 2024, and ended on September 30, 2025. Fiscal year 1976 ended on June 30, 1976, and fiscal year 1977 began on October 1, 1976. The period July 1, 1976, to September 30, 1976, is called the “transition quarter” or TQ.

c. Units of measure

Data for budget authority, outlays, offsetting receipts, and governmental receipts are shown in thousands of dollars. Prior to the FY 1997 Budget, the President’s Budget was presented in thousands of dollars. The FY 1997 and subsequent Budgets have been presented in millions of dollars. Therefore, the file data from FY 1995 through FY 2031 represent the Budget amounts multiplied by one thousand to convert the amounts to thousands; detail below millions is not available. Detail in thousands is available for years up through FY 1994, which was the actual year in the FY 1996 Budget.

d. Limitations

These data files do not contain data by object classes, data for program and financing accounts, character class (other than grants to State and local governments), personnel summaries, or credit schedules. Account-level details are based on the proposed Budget only and do not include current services estimates.

With few exceptions, these files present account-level details that are consistent with the account structure of the current Budget. For governmental receipts and offsetting receipts, data prior to 1982 are aggregates in sufficient detail to produce the published tables, but are not “true” account-level details. For budget authority, no data are available prior to 1976. For outlays, data for 1962-1981 tend to be account-level details. Exceptions include the Legislative Branch and Department of Defense, which are available only at bureau-level detail in the earlier years.

Budget authority and outlay amounts are reported net of any offsetting collections, such as fees, fines, and penalties.

Users of these data files should be careful to review and understand the effects that these limitations may have on their analysis of budget data and trends. For example, computation of compound annual growth rates of various receipt accounts in the Budget could be severely affected by the discontinuities in account-level details prior to 1982.

e. Further information

Readers who are not already familiar with the Federal Budget should gain a familiarity with the concepts and organization of the budget before proceeding. The following documents may be helpful:

Analytical Perspectives, Budget of the United States Government, Fiscal Year 2027.

This document contains analyses that are designed to highlight specified program areas or provide other significant presentations of Budget data that place the Budget in perspective. It includes a discussion of the concepts underlying the organization of the Budget and the presentation of Budget data, economic assumptions underlying the Budget estimates, Federal receipts and collections, including user fees and tax expenditures, Federal spending, and other topics. A particularly useful chapter is “Budget Concepts,” which contains a discussion of budget concepts. Also of particular use is a report entitled, “Table 16-1. Federal Budget By Agency and Account,” which contains a listing of all appropriation and fund accounts in the Budget. (This report is available online in the Analytical Perspectives Supplemental Materials section at: https://whitehouse.gov/omb/analytical-perspectives.)

OMB Circular A-11 provides instructions to agencies in preparing Budget submissions, including details for entry into the Budget database.

In addition, there is extensive literature on the Federal Budget that could be usefully consulted.

2. Data files and file format

The account-level data is available in spreadsheet format.

a. Spreadsheet format

Files are provided in “XLSX” format. This format is commonly used by spreadsheet and database programs. Separate files for receipts, outlays, and budget authority are available in this format and are described in detail below.

b. File names, contents, and sequence

In the budget authority and outlay files, the records are sequenced by agency code, bureau code, account code, Treasury agency code, subfunction code, BEA category, grant/non-grant, and on-/off-budget field. The receipt file is sequenced by source category code, source subcategory code, agency code, bureau code, account code, and Treasury agency code.

The files with the account-level data are:

|---------------|---|
| outlays.xlsx  | Outlays and offsetting receipts, 1962-2031, in spreadsheet format.          |
| receipts.xlsx | Governmental receipts, 1962-2031, in spreadsheet format.                    |
| budauth.xlsx  | Budget authority and offsetting receipts, 1976-2031, in spreadsheet format. |

Offsetting receipts are in the budget authority file as well as the outlay file. These amounts are needed to calculate net budget authority and net outlays.

3. Categorization of budget data

The categorization of budget data differs slightly among receipts, outlays, and budget authority files.

a. Budget authority and outlay files

Account details are categorized using the following keys:

Agency—OMB agency codes generally correspond to the Cabinet department or independent agency with primary responsibility for the program. There are two major exceptions to this definition: (1) the Legislative Branch and the Judiciary are displayed as agencies, though they are separate branches of Government; and (2) intragovernmental payments of interest to trust funds, payments of employer share of employee retirement contributions, and interest paid to the Outer Continental Shelf escrow account are classified as “undistributed offsetting receipts.” The agency coding used in the data files is consistent with the tables in the Budget documents that present budget authority and outlays by agency. These codes and titles differ from the “Treasury Agency” code and the Treasury Common Government-wide Accounting Classification (CGAC) agency code (“CGAC Agency”) described below. In addition, some allowances are not distributed by agency or by function and are given a special agency code.

Bureau—OMB bureaus are major subdivisions within Cabinet departments that correspond to major organizational areas. Within Cabinet departments, these major organizational areas may be called “bureaus” (e.g., the Bureau of the Census within the Department of Commerce or the Bureau of Labor Statistics within the Department of Labor), “services” (e.g., the Internal Revenue Service within the Department of the Treasury or the Economic Research Service within the Department of Agriculture); “offices” (e.g., Office of Postsecondary Education in the Department of Education) or they may be broad budget categories (e.g., Procurement or Military Personnel in the Department of Defense). Table 1 presents a listing of the agency and bureau categories used in the data files.

Account—These numbers are assigned by Treasury and are used for budget presentation and financial management. In some instances, groups of small accounts (usually miscellaneous special and trust fund accounts) have been consolidated into single accounts.

Treasury Agency—See OMB Circular A-11, Appendix C for a listing of the two-digit Treasury agency codes and the corresponding titles.

CGAC Agency—See OMB Circular A-11, Appendix C for a listing of the three-digit Treasury CGAC agency codes and the corresponding titles.

Subfunction—Accounts are categorized by the subfunctions shown in Table 2. Accounts that include multiple subfunctions are subdivided into subfunction components.

Budget Enforcement Act category—The Budget Enforcement Act (the “Act”) made distinctions between mandatory and discretionary accounts for certain provisions of the Act. This distinction is still used for scorekeeping and budget authority and outlays are categorized accordingly. Initially, accounts were assigned categories based on the agreement shown in the Act’s statement of managers. Since that time, Administration and Congressional scorekeepers categorize new amounts of budget authority and outlays and adjust existing amounts when there is agreement. Where an account includes mandatory and discretionary activities, separate lines of data, appropriately coded, will be found in the data files. The possible values for this code are:

Discretionary—Discretionary spending means budgetary resources (except those provided to fund mandatory spending programs) provided in appropriations acts.

Mandatory—Mandatory spending means spending controlled by laws other than appropriations acts (including spending for entitlement programs). Mandatory spending generally operates under permanent authority. Statutes generally specify what must be paid and who is eligible to receive payments. Governmental receipt accounts are categorized as “governmental receipts” as described below.

Net interest—Interest payments to and from the public and intragovernmental payments of interest, primarily to trust funds, are not included as either mandatory or discretionary spending.

Readers wanting more information on this topic may refer to several chapters in the Analytical Perspectives volume.

Grant/Non-grant—Grants to State and local governments are separated from non-grant outlays, based on the definitions in OMB Circular A-11 for schedule C data.

b. Receipts file

Receipt account data are categorized as follows:

Source category—These are major categories of governmental receipts, such as individual income tax receipts or corporation income tax receipts. (See Table 3.)

Account—These are assigned by Treasury and are used for budget presentation as well as financial management. In some instances, groups of small accounts (usually miscellaneous receipt accounts) have been consolidated into single accounts.

Treasury Agency— See OMB Circular A-11, Appendix C for a listing of the two-digit Treasury agency codes and the corresponding titles.

CGAC Agency—See OMB Circular A-11, Appendix C for a listing of the three-digit Treasury CGAC agency codes and the corresponding titles.
